Reds Cease All Attacks, Regroup Forces

Enemy Rolled Back, Easing Taegu Threat

Air Force Reports Bag Of 15 Tanks

TOKYO, Saturday, Aug. 26. (AP)—Rolled back at two points north of Taegu, the Korean reds ceased all attacks Friday night and regrouped their battered forces for their next move.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead said today in a dispatch from the Taegu front that United Nations officers believe three red divisions have been so severely smashed that another large scale attack there cannot be mounted for at least 10 days.

Simultaneous with a U. S. Eighth Army report of rebuffing the communists everywhere on the ground, the Air Force announced a bag of 15 enemy tanks.

From every sector the report early today was "generally quiet."

South Koreans Gain Mile

The Eighth Army, in a late morning communique, disclosed that South Korean forces not only regained ground lost to 6,000 reds 24 miles northeast of Taegu but also punched out a mile gain 15 miles north of that advance supply base. That gain was in the Kumhwa area where two South Korean regiments killed 300 communists and captured 42.

The Taegu north sector is where shifting red forces have concentrated their main strength.

In the other critical sector, on the south end of the 120-mile battle perimeter, planes which took off at dawn today said there was "no enemy activity." In that sector, only 35 air miles west of the lifeline port city of Pusan, the red had fought fiercely within hand grenade range Friday, probing for a possible breakthrough.

American and Australian pilots listed five enemy tanks knocked out and four damaged in sectors defended by South Koreans north and east of Taegu. Far to the north at the communist capital of Pyongyang, the planes shot up six more tanks. Four other "kills" were made at points around the battle perimeter, pilots said.

Reds Hoarding Tanks

If confirmed, these would amount to serious losses for the reds. Communist commanders have been using armor sparingly in even the heaviest ground fighting recently. In some sectors, the tanks were dug in and used for artillery.

Unions Call Off Nationwide Railroad Strike

120,000 Chrysler Workers Get Unexpected Pay Boost Of At Least 10 Cents Hour

Informal Pact A "First" In Auto Industry

DETROIT, Aug. 25 (AP)—Chrysler Corp.'s 120,000 employes got a $25,000,000 a year windfall today in the form of a totally unexpected pay boost of at least 10 cents an hour.

Some will get more under an informal agreement between the company and the CIO United Auto Workers—the first of its kind ever reached in the auto industry.

Almost immediately, a flat 10-cent raise will go to Chrysler's 93,000 production workers. Skilled tool, die, maintenance and power house employes—7,000 of them—will get an additional five cents. Some 20,000 salaried workers will receive seven per cent raises with a minimum of $17.50 a month.

No Price Hikes Contemplated

Chrysler said the program would cost it at least $25,000,000 a year.

A spokesman said, however, no car price increases were contemplated. But the move seemed destined to have important effects elsewhere in the industry and possibly on the American economy in general.

The agreement, not even put into writing, is over and above the three-year Chrysler-UAW contract signed last May 4 after a bitter 100-day strike.

It seemingly marked one of the most sudden changes in labor-management relations the industry ever has seen. Company and union negotiators haggled for weeks over minute details of the contract before coming to terms. After the strike was settled, they even refused to pose together for photographers.

Reporters Surprised

It was all different today. Reporters summoned to a hastily-called press conference were expecting to get news in connection with a recent series of unauthorized strikes that have been plaguing Chrysler production for days—possibly company retaliation.

The Chrysler-UAW contract runs to May, 1953, and cannot be reopened for wage talks before next July. A wage increase at this time had not even been rumored.

Power To Draft Doctors Is Asked

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Defense Department today told Congress it wants power to draft doctors and dentists through the age of 45.

House hearings were called at once for Monday.

Secretary of Defense Johnson wrote that volunteers have been few. He said his pool of 29,000 medical men in the reserves, many of whom had long service in the last war, will bear the burden of "substantial calls" expected in the next few months unless others are made subject to service.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga), of the House Armed Services Committee, which will conduct hearings, introduced the draft bill as proposed by the military department. It would specify the order in which men would be called, as follows:

1. Those who participated as students in the Army specialized training program and the Navy V-12 program during the last war, and who had less than 90 days active duty. Their education was largely paid for by the government.

2. Those so educated who served more than 90 days but less than 21 months.

3. Other doctors and dentists with no active service after Sept. 16, 1940.

4. Those who served the fewest number of full months in the armed forces.

Seizure Order By President Averts Tieup

Government Will Take Over Sunday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The unions today called of a nationwide rail strike within 30 minutes after President Truman ordered federal seizure of the railroads.

The walkout, involving 131 major railroads and an estimated 1,700,000 rail workers, had been scheduled to begin at 6 a. m. Monday.

Mr. Truman, acting to prevent a national emergency, ordered Secretary of the Army Pace to take over the railroads at 4 p. m., EST., Sunday, and operate them "in the name of the United States government."

Half an hour after the President issued his executive order at 3 p. m., the unions issued a statement declaring:

"The men we represent will work for the government gladly under government operation of the railroads during this period of crisis until this dispute can be settled on its merits through mediation.

Unions Hail Truman Move

The message, sent to all the railroads involved, was signed by President W. P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and President R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors.

A union spoksman hailed Mr. Truman's seizure of the railroads as "a tremendous victory for our people."

The unions had urged Mr. Truman at least three times during the 18-month-old dispute to take over the roads as the only means of reaching a peaceful settlement with management negotiators whom they accused of "stalling."

Management in turn accused the union leaders of complete irresponsibility" and "double dealing."

Mr. Truman's seizure announcement calls on all rail workers "to cooperate with the government by remaining on the job," and backed up the plea with an executive order authorizing the Army to furnish "manpower" if necessary to keep the railroads running.

Presumably this would mean troops.

Lawmakers Approve Decision

On Capitol Hill, most Congress members gave quick approval for Mr. Truman's decision, although some grumbles were heard, chiefly from Republicans, that such a drastic step was unnecessary.

In general, the lawmakers said the President had no alternative to prevent a critical disruption of the nation's home-front economy and grave jeopardy to the war effort.

The unions are demanding a 40-hour week and a 31-cent hourly wage boost for yard workers to keep their take-home pay the same as it has been for their present 48-hour week.

They are also asking wage increases for workers on the rolling trains.

The President made it clear—and the White House later emphasized the point—that for the duration of the seizure, the unions will not be able to bargain with the government in an effort to achieve their demands.

U. S. Welcomes Probe Of China Reds' Charges

Formosa Aggression Accusation Is Denied

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 25 (AP)—The United States said today it would welcome a full United Nations inquiry, either here or on the spot, into Chinese communist charges of American aggression in Formosa.

Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin made it clear, however, that the United States would fight any attempts to sidetrack discussion of the Korean conflict to take up the Formosa problem.

In a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie, Austin labelled as "ridiculous falsehoods" the aggression charges made yesterday in a cable from Chou En-Lai, foreign minister of the Peiping regime.

Accusation Is Denied

Austin denied the United States had any designs against Chinese territory and said the only reason the U. S. Seventh Fleet was sent to patrol the Strait of Formosa was to prevent further fighting between the communists and nationalists.

The text of the Austin letter was circulated to Security Council members just before the council met under the presidency of Soviet Delegate Jakob A. Malik for a long French translation of speeches delivered Tuesday by Austin, Malik and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb. The translations required one hour and 33 minutes.

Malik then made what he called a "corrective" speech answering the Tuesday attacks by Austin and Jebb. His speech was much milder than usual. He repeated his previous charges that the U. S. was the ag-

Zoo Keeper's Snake Story Causes Stir, Then Collapses

WEWOKA, Okla., Aug. 25 (AP)—A zoo keeper with an eye for publicity turned up with a 26-foot snake here today and created a stir until his story of capturing it alive in the Seminole County hills collapsed.

County Attorney Jack Scott said W. G. Hall, Tonkawa, Okla., a zoo keeper and professional trapper, admitted he imported the reptile under the cover of darkness after purchasing it fro ma Maryland firm for $480.

But excitement ran high for a time after Hall placed the snake in a hastily-built cage and claimed he captured it alive in Wild Horse Canyon, six miles north of here, after a two-hour tussle.

The folks in this once-rich oil area of Southeastern Oklahoma were ready to believe anything. For 15 years there had been rumors of a monster in these parts. Only last month a farmer reported seeing a snake "as big around as a man and as long as two pickup trucks."

Some of the natives breathed a little easier as they viewed Hall's 26-foot prize, which measured 7½ inches in diameter and weighed some 250 pounds.

Then the truth came out.

Authorities became suspicious when Hall started charging admission to a building he had rented to house his exhibit.

"Low Point Has Passed" In Korea, Adm. Radford Says

PEARL HARBOR, Aug. 25 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander in chief of U. S. naval forces in the Pacific, said today that "the low point has been passed" in Korea.

Navy and Marine forces there will be increased steadily in a balanced build-up, he told a press conference.

Adm. Radford returned last night from a week's visit to Japan and Korea. He spent one day in Taegu and Pusan and conferred with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo.

Radford said the purpose of his trip was to discuss the timing of additional reinforcements, "and to make sure our efforts here (in Pearl Harbor) fitted into plans there."

He told a press conference that "the low point has been passed in Korea."

"The general attitude in Korea is one of restrained optimism," he said.

House Sends $35,554,490,425 Appropriation Bill To Senate

Measure Includes Loan For Spain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The House today passed a $35,554,490,425 bill for regular government and military spending and got word that the armed forces soon may ask for still another $10,000,000,000.

Studying these astronomical figures, House members turned to consideration of a second gigantic appropriation measure—$16,711,084,479 for emergency defense needs piled on by the world crisis.

If all three sums are written into law it would push the budget for this fiscal year to $70,000,000,000, counting funds for fixed charges such as debt interest which are not appropriated.

Passed By Voice Vote

The 35 billion dollar measure was passed by voice vote after the House approved these controversial sections:

1. A mandatory $62,500,000 loan for Franco Spain. This had been written in by the Senate at $100,000,000 despite protests of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson that the loan should be handled in the regular manner.

2. A $26,900,000 "Point 4" fund for technical assistance to under-developed nations. This followed a renewed plea by President Truman who protested a conference committee slash to $15,000,000 as a "tragic blunder" which woud aid the communists.

3. Accepted a $200,000,000 cut by the conference in Marshall Plan funds as voted by the Senate. This leaves $2,250,000,000 in new money plus $276,000,000 in left-over funds to operate the economic development plan in Western Europe for a third year ending next July.

Senate To Act Monday

The final version of the bill, which finances government departments and gives the Defense Department some $14,600,000,000, is $2,287,867,723 below President Truman's budget estimates.

The bulky money bill moved to the Senate for final approval. Sen. McKeller (D-Tenn) got the Senate to agree to take it up quickly on Monday.

Government Orders Cutdown On Rubber For Civilian Goods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The government today cut the use of new rubber for civilian products, starting Sept. 1. This was the first production curb growing out of the Korean war.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer, who ordered the cut, said it is "not drastic and will still permit the production of sufficient quantities of rubber products for normal civilian use."

Commerce Department officials said the action will probably reduce the output of tires—"but not to the extent that should inconvenience civilians in their normal requirements."

The order aims to reduce the consumption from the present rate of slightly over 100,000 tons a month to about 90,000 tons.

Rally By Berlin Reds Lacks Pep

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—East Germany's communist leaders staged a march of 100,000 followers down Unter Den Linden today as a curtain-raiser for the communist "National Congress."

Party members led blue-shirted Soviet zone youth, people's policemen and factory workers. But the marchers seemed to lack the pep shown in the recent Whitsuntide celebrations.

Carrying banners with painted messages of hate against the western powers, the marchers were reviewed by East German President Wilhelm Pieck and Soviet Ambassador Gregori Maximovich Pushkin.

The reviewing stand near the ruined palace of the Kaiser also held the 3,000 hand-picked delegates to the so-called Congress, summoned from both East and West Germany to reach "concrete decisions" that have been outlined in advance.

The people's police and the fire department sought to give the demonstration an air of emergency. They lined up firehoses at Brandenburg Gate — east-west border point—ostensibly to repel interference. West Berliners paid little attention and went about their work as usual.

Chinese Red Troops Mass Near Korea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Two Chinese communist armies have been massed along the Korean border and 120 mammoth tanks have been sent to the Red Koreans from the Russian - controlled port of Dairen, the U. S. Army announced today.

The official word of the long-reported movement of the Chinese Red troops caused new speculation as to whether they may eventually plunge into the Far Eastern War.

The movement of the heavy tanks raised new threats for the U. N. forces in Korea—if the tanks can be brought into action, which some U. S. experts strongly doubt.

Official U. S. Sources

A defense spokesman pinned both reports on official U. S. sources. They were made public a few hours after Army Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins returned from conferences in Tokyo with Gen. MacArthur.

The buildup of Chinese forces along the North Korean border was given additional emphasis by other reports received through official U. S. channels that the Chinese communist party has commandeered all shipping and is mobilizing Chinese laborers to move supplies across the border into Korea.

These reports placed the main concentration of Chinese red manpower and communist war equipment around Antung, big industrial center and transportation hub near the mouth of Yalu River.

First Confirmation

Until today, defense spokesmen have either denied or declined to comment on press reports that Chinese communist armies were moving eastward across Manchuria to Korea.

After the reports about Chinese concentrations and the movement of tanks along the Manchurian border had been revealed at a Pentagon news conference today, other military officials said that the presence of heavy Russian tanks in North Korea has been known for some days.

Wage-Price Control Power May Be Stripped From Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Senate-House conferees were deadlocked today on the question of giving President Truman a free hand in imposing wage-price controls.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, told newsmen the result may be to strip all authority for wage-price control from the home-front mobilization bill.

The legislation has been passed by both chambers of Congress, but the Senate version would impose some tight restrictions on the President's power. It would require him to order wage and price controls simultaneously and virtually across the board if he invoked them at all.

The House version would give Mr. Truman full discretion to put the controls into effect on a selective basis or across the board.

Senate and House conference committees are now trying to iron out differences between the two bills.

Maybank told reporters that a move to cut out all wage-price control authority from the legislation is under consideration. He said the issue will be settled next Tuesday when the conference group meets again.

Maybank said the Senate group deadlocked by a 4-to-4 vote on a proposal to remove the Senate provision—an amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) — curbing the President's power.

At Least Five Dead; Over 260 Persons Saved

Vessel On Test Run Rammed Off 'Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP) — The military hospital ship Benevolence was rammed by a freighter in thick fog off the Golden Gate late today, causing at least five known deaths and damaging the hospital ship so badly that she sank.

A swarm of rescue craft sent out by the Coast Guard, the Navy and the Army saved between 260 and 275 persons, all of them apparently from the stricken Benevolence. The Benevolence was reported to have had 367 aboard, including many medical personnel.

Rescuers brought in four seriously injured persons, two of them on litters. Most of those saved were suffering from shock and cold from their perilous immersion in the rough waters four miles off the entrance to San Francisco Bay.

The Benevolence, just recently pulled out of the reserve fleet at Mare Island and being fitted out for service in the Korean war zone, was hit by the outbound freighter Mary Luckenbach. Visibility was limited to a few feet off the Gate.

Freighter's Bow Smashed

The Mary Luckenbach, bound for the east coast with a general cargo, was afloat and apparently in no immediate danger of sinking. Her bow was smashed. She carried a crew of 49.

It was utterly impossible to compile an accurate figure as to how many casualties there were and how many had been rescued. Those saved were being brought, by more than two score of military craft and fishing boats, to the Fort Mason Army dock and to the Coast Guard station at Fort Point, on the Presidio of San Francisco.

Ten Navy nurses were reported among the survivors.

119 Civilians Aboard

The Benevolence, which sailed yesterday on a test cruise, was reported to have had 119 civilians, 48 doctors and other medical personnel and 200 enlisted personnel, including medical corpsmen. Her crew was civilian and the medical personnel was all service.

Fort Mason reported three rescue craft had docked. A port of embarkation tug came in with 78 aboard; another tug had 134 and a coast guard cutter had 50 more.

All of these survivors totaling 262, were pulled from the water or taken off life rafts.

Numerous other craft, including a destroyer, were searching for more survivors and some had been brought in by fishing boats and other service craft. Fort Mason said the survivors were being sent to Letterman Army Hospital at the Presidio and to the Marine hospital at 14th and Clay Streets.

It was considered extremely unlikely that anything like an accurate check on survivors and casualties would be possible for many hours.

All sources blamed the collision on the thick fog, which at this time of the year often lies like a thick, white blanket along the coast. Ships moving through this fog depend on radar and foghorns for warning against such disasters as this.

A Navy spokesman said hospital ships usually are radar equipped but whether the Benevolence was so protected, he could not say.

George Opposes Big Profits Levy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP) — Sen. George (D-Ga) declared today that to impose an 85 per cent excess profits tax on corporations, without at the same time controlling prices and wages, would send the country into a whirl of inflation.

In a hot Senate debate, backers of the profits levy shouted back that it would curb, not promote, inflation and would crack down on "profiteers."

The government, they said, should take a big chunk of profits in excess of "normal." Under their proposal a concern would not have to pay any excess profits tax on a sum equal to 80 per cent of its average profits in the years 1946 through 1949, plus $10,000. But profits above this would be taxed at 85 per cent.

George told Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) the super tax on profits he proposed would not yield the Treasury a dollar of extra income this year. Instead, he said, it would set off an orgy of waste, with corporations spending money freely to avoid handing it over to the Treasury as excess profits.

The battle began when O'Mahoney and Sen. Connally (D-Tex) formally offered their excess profits tax proposal as an amendment to the $4,508,000,000 tax-boosting bill requested by President Truman.

In a letter to Secretary-General Trygve Lie, Austin labelled as "ridiculous falsehoods" the aggression charges made yesterday in a cable from Chou En-Lai, foreign minister of the Peiping regime.

Accusation Is Denied

Austin denied the United States had any designs against Chinese territory and said the only reason the U. S. Seventh Fleet was sent to patrol the Strait of Formosa was to prevent further fighting between the communists and nationalists.

The text of the Austin letter was circulated to Security Council members just before the council met under the presidency of Soviet Delegate Jakob A. Malik for a long French translation of speeches delivered Tuesday by Austin, Malik and Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb. The translations required one hour and 33 minutes.

Malik then made what he called a "corrective" speech answering the Tuesday attacks by Austin and Jebb. His speech was much milder than usual. He repeated his previous charges that the U. S. was the ag-

Zoo Keeper's Snake Story Causes Stir, Then Collapses

WEWOKA, Okla., Aug. 25 (AP)—A zoo keeper with an eye for publicity turned up with a 26-foot snake here today and created a stir until his story of capturing it alive in the Seminole County hills collapsed.

County Attorney Jack Scott said W. G. Hall, Tonkawa, Okla., a zoo keeper and professional trapper, admitted he imported the reptile under the cover of darkness after purchasing it fro ma Maryland firm for $480.

But excitement ran high for a time after Hall placed the snake in a hastily-built cage and claimed he captured it alive in Wild Horse Canyon, six miles north of here, after a two-hour tussle.

The folks in this once-rich oil area of Southeastern Oklahoma were ready to believe anything. For 15 years there had been rumors of a monster in these parts. Only last month a farmer reported seeing a snake "as big around as a man and as long as two pickup trucks."

Some of the natives breathed a little easier as they viewed Hall's 26-foot prize, which measured 7½ inches in diameter and weighed some 250 pounds.

Then the truth came out.

Authorities became suspicious when Hall started charging admission to a building he had rented to house his exhibit.

Seizure Order By President Averts Tieup

Government Will Take Over Sunday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The unions today called of a nationwide rail strike within 30 minutes after President Truman ordered federal seizure of the railroads.

The walkout, involving 131 major railroads and an estimated 1,700,000 rail workers, had been scheduled to begin at 6 a. m. Monday.

Mr. Truman, acting to prevent a national emergency, ordered Secretary of the Army Pace to take over the railroads at 4 p. m., EST., Sunday, and operate them "in the name of the United States government."

Half an hour after the President issued his executive order at 3 p. m., the unions issued a statement declaring:

"The men we represent will work for the government gladly under government operation of the railroads during this period of crisis until this dispute can be settled on its merits through mediation.

Unions Hail Truman Move

The message, sent to all the railroads involved, was signed by President W. P. Kennedy of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and President R. O. Hughes of the Order of Railway Conductors.

A union spoksman hailed Mr. Truman's seizure of the railroads as "a tremendous victory for our people."

The unions had urged Mr. Truman at least three times during the 18-month-old dispute to take over the roads as the only means of reaching a peaceful settlement with management negotiators whom they accused of "stalling."

Management in turn accused the union leaders of complete irresponsibility" and "double dealing."

Mr. Truman's seizure announcement calls on all rail workers "to cooperate with the government by remaining on the job," and backed up the plea with an executive order authorizing the Army to furnish "manpower" if necessary to keep the railroads running.

Presumably this would mean troops.

Lawmakers Approve Decision

On Capitol Hill, most Congress members gave quick approval for Mr. Truman's decision, although some grumbles were heard, chiefly from Republicans, that such a drastic step was unnecessary.

In general, the lawmakers said the President had no alternative to prevent a critical disruption of the nation's home-front economy and grave jeopardy to the war effort.

The unions are demanding a 40-hour week and a 31-cent hourly wage boost for yard workers to keep their take-home pay the same as it has been for their present 48-hour week.

They are also asking wage increases for workers on the rolling trains.

The President made it clear—and the White House later emphasized the point—that for the duration of the seizure, the unions will not be able to bargain with the government in an effort to achieve their demands.

"Low Point Has Passed" In Korea, Adm. Radford Says

PEARL HARBOR, Aug. 25 (AP)—Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander in chief of U. S. naval forces in the Pacific, said today that "the low point has been passed" in Korea.

Navy and Marine forces there will be increased steadily in a balanced build-up, he told a press conference.

Adm. Radford returned last night from a week's visit to Japan and Korea. He spent one day in Taegu and Pusan and conferred with Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo.

Radford said the purpose of his trip was to discuss the timing of additional reinforcements, "and to make sure our efforts here (in Pearl Harbor) fitted into plans there."

He told a press conference that "the low point has been passed in Korea."

"Flying Saucer" Is False Alarm

Two Reading, Pa., boys, John Feick (left), 15, and Paul Fisher (right), 14, admire the "flying saucer" they built, but Floyd Auchenbach (center), motorcycle patrolman, doesn't share their emotions. Auchenbauch investigated reports of people who reported they saw "a real flying saucer." The boys admitted they built the gadget for fun and to fool people. It never could fly, they said.

Measure Includes Loan For Spain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The House today passed a $35,554,490,425 bill for regular government and military spending and got word that the armed forces soon may ask for still another $10,000,000,000.

Studying these astronomical figures, House members turned to consideration of a second gigantic appropriation measure—$16,711,084,479 for emergency defense needs piled on by the world crisis.

If all three sums are written into law it would push the budget for this fiscal year to $70,000,000,000, counting funds for fixed charges such as debt interest which are not appropriated.

Passed By Voice Vote

The 35 billion dollar measure was passed by voice vote after the House approved these controversial sections:

1. A mandatory $62,500,000 loan for Franco Spain. This had been written in by the Senate at $100,000,000 despite protests of President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson that the loan should be handled in the regular manner.

2. A $26,900,000 "Point 4" fund for technical assistance to under-developed nations. This followed a renewed plea by President Truman who protested a conference committee slash to $15,000,000 as a "tragic blunder" which woud aid the communists.

3. Accepted a $200,000,000 cut by the conference in Marshall Plan funds as voted by the Senate. This leaves $2,250,000,000 in new money plus $276,000,000 in left-over funds to operate the economic development plan in Western Europe for a third year ending next July.

Senate To Act Monday

The final version of the bill, which finances government departments and gives the Defense Department some $14,600,000,000, is $2,287,867,723 below President Truman's budget estimates.

The bulky money bill moved to the Senate for final approval. Sen. McKeller (D-Tenn) got the Senate to agree to take it up quickly on Monday.

Government Orders Cutdown On Rubber For Civilian Goods

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The government today cut the use of new rubber for civilian products, starting Sept. 1. This was the first production curb growing out of the Korean war.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer, who ordered the cut, said it is "not drastic and will still permit the production of sufficient quantities of rubber products for normal civilian use."

Commerce Department officials said the action will probably reduce the output of tires—"but not to the extent that should inconvenience civilians in their normal requirements."

The order aims to reduce the consumption from the present rate of slightly over 100,000 tons a month to about 90,000 tons.

Rally By Berlin Reds Lacks Pep

BERLIN, Aug. 25 (AP)—East Germany's communist leaders staged a march of 100,000 followers down Unter Den Linden today as a curtain-raiser for the communist "National Congress."

Party members led blue-shirted Soviet zone youth, people's policemen and factory workers. But the marchers seemed to lack the pep shown in the recent Whitsuntide celebrations.

Carrying banners with painted messages of hate against the western powers, the marchers were reviewed by East German President Wilhelm Pieck and Soviet Ambassador Gregori Maximovich Pushkin.

The reviewing stand near the ruined palace of the Kaiser also held the 3,000 hand-picked delegates to the so-called Congress, summoned from both East and West Germany to reach "concrete decisions" that have been outlined in advance.

The people's police and the fire department sought to give the demonstration an air of emergency. They lined up firehoses at Brandenburg Gate — east-west border point—ostensibly to repel interference. West Berliners paid little attention and went about their work as usual.

Chinese Red Troops Mass Near Korea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Two Chinese communist armies have been massed along the Korean border and 120 mammoth tanks have been sent to the Red Koreans from the Russian - controlled port of Dairen, the U. S. Army announced today.

The official word of the long-reported movement of the Chinese Red troops caused new speculation as to whether they may eventually plunge into the Far Eastern War.

The movement of the heavy tanks raised new threats for the U. N. forces in Korea—if the tanks can be brought into action, which some U. S. experts strongly doubt.

Official U. S. Sources

A defense spokesman pinned both reports on official U. S. sources. They were made public a few hours after Army Chief of Staff J. Lawton Collins returned from conferences in Tokyo with Gen. MacArthur.

The buildup of Chinese forces along the North Korean border was given additional emphasis by other reports received through official U. S. channels that the Chinese communist party has commandeered all shipping and is mobilizing Chinese laborers to move supplies across the border into Korea.

These reports placed the main concentration of Chinese red manpower and communist war equipment around Antung, big industrial center and transportation hub near the mouth of Yalu River.

First Confirmation

Until today, defense spokesmen have either denied or declined to comment on press reports that Chinese communist armies were moving eastward across Manchuria to Korea.

After the reports about Chinese concentrations and the movement of tanks along the Manchurian border had been revealed at a Pentagon news conference today, other military officials said that the presence of heavy Russian tanks in North Korea has been known for some days.

Wage-Price Control Power May Be Stripped From Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Senate-House conferees were deadlocked today on the question of giving President Truman a free hand in imposing wage-price controls.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, told newsmen the result may be to strip all authority for wage-price control from the home-front mobilization bill.

The legislation has been passed by both chambers of Congress, but the Senate version would impose some tight restrictions on the President's power. It would require him to order wage and price controls simultaneously and virtually across the board if he invoked them at all.

The House version would give Mr. Truman full discretion to put the controls into effect on a selective basis or across the board.

Senate and House conference committees are now trying to iron out differences between the two bills.

Maybank told reporters that a move to cut out all wage-price control authority from the legislation is under consideration. He said the issue will be settled next Tuesday when the conference group meets again.

Maybank said the Senate group deadlocked by a 4-to-4 vote on a proposal to remove the Senate provision—an amendment by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) — curbing the President's power.

At Least Five Dead; Over 260 Persons Saved

Vessel On Test Run Rammed Off 'Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25 (AP) — The military hospital ship Benevolence was rammed by a freighter in thick fog off the Golden Gate late today, causing at least five known deaths and damaging the hospital ship so badly that she sank.

A swarm of rescue craft sent out by the Coast Guard, the Navy and the Army saved between 260 and 275 persons, all of them apparently from the stricken Benevolence. The Benevolence was reported to have had 367 aboard, including many medical personnel.

Rescuers brought in four seriously injured persons, two of them on litters. Most of those saved were suffering from shock and cold from their perilous immersion in the rough waters four miles off the entrance to San Francisco Bay.

The Benevolence, just recently pulled out of the reserve fleet at Mare Island and being fitted out for service in the Korean war zone, was hit by the outbound freighter Mary Luckenbach. Visibility was limited to a few feet off the Gate.

Freighter's Bow Smashed

The Mary Luckenbach, bound for the east coast with a general cargo, was afloat and apparently in no immediate danger of sinking. Her bow was smashed. She carried a crew of 49.

It was utterly impossible to compile an accurate figure as to how many casualties there were and how many had been rescued. Those saved were being brought, by more than two score of military craft and fishing boats, to the Fort Mason Army dock and to the Coast Guard station at Fort Point, on the Presidio of San Francisco.

Ten Navy nurses were reported among the survivors.

119 Civilians Aboard

The Benevolence, which sailed yesterday on a test cruise, was reported to have had 119 civilians, 42 doctors and other medical personnel and 200 enlisted personnel, including medical corpsmen. Her crew was civilian and the medical personnel was all service.

Fort Mason reported three rescue craft had docked. A port of embarkation tug came in with 78 aboard; another tug had 134 and a coast guard cutter had 50 more.

All of these survivors totaling 262, were pulled from the water or taken off life rafts.

Numerous other craft, including a destroyer, were searching for more survivors and some had been brought in by fishing boats and other service craft. Fort Mason said the survivors were being sent to Letterman Army Hospital at the Presidio and to the Marine hospital at 14th and Clay Streets.

It was considered extremely unlikely that anything like an accurate check on survivors and casualties would be possible for many hours.

All sources blamed the collision on the thick fog, which at this time of the year often lies like a thick, white blanket along the coast. Ships moving through this fog depend on radar and foghorns for warning against such disasters as this.

A Navy spokesman said hospital ships usually are radar equipped but whether the Benevolence was so protected, he could not say.

George Opposes Big Profits Levy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga) declared today that to impose an 85 per cent excess profits tax on corporations, without at the same time controlling prices and wages, would send the country into a whirl of inflation.

In a hot Senate debate, backers of the profits levy shouted back that it would curb, not promote, inflation and would crack down on "profiteers."

The government, they said, should take a big chunk of profits in excess of "normal." Under their proposal a concern would not have to pay any excess profits tax on a sum equal to 80 per cent of its average profits in the years 1946 through 1949, plus $10,000. But profits above this would be taxed at 85 per cent.

George told Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) the super tax on profits he proposed would not yield the Treasury a dollar of extra income this year. Instead, he said, it would set off an orgy of waste, with corporations spending money freely to avoid handing it over to the Treasury as excess profits.

The battle began when O'Mahoney and Sen. Connally (D-Tex) formally offered their excess profits tax proposal as an amendment to the $4,508,000,000 tax-boosting bill requested by President Truman.

SRC Authorizes Start Of Mill Run Road Work

The State Roads Commission has notified the Hazelwood Construction Company, contractors for the Mill Run Road, to begin work immediately, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC.

The slightly more than a mile long road will run from Georges Creek Boulevard in the Barton section towards the Garrett County line. About 800 feet of retaining wall will be built along the stream paralleling the highway to protect the road.

The Lower Town Creek Road and Williams Road projects also are expected to start soon. The three roads will cost approximately $200,000 of which the federal government will pay 40 per cent and the county the balance.

County Commissioner William H. Lemmert said yesterday that the Mill Run and Lower Town Creek Roads will be retained in the county system, but the Williams Road will be included in the state system for maintenance.

Strategic Bombing Helps The Infantry

The latest argument against the "ineffectual" results of strategic bombing, as carried out by the Air Force in Korea comes from two respected military experts. One is an American, the other a Briton.

The case built by Hanson Baldwin, New York Times military analyst, makes good reading. His contention is that we are going about winning the battle of the "spirit" the wrong way since we are sending our B-29s far back of the front and bombing industrial targets. Presumably, many civilians have been killed or maimed.

Briefly, he feels that we have let the short range military advantages of strategic bombing outweigh the long range political and moral advantages. When and if the tide turns and we seek the friendship of all Koreans our job will be that much harder and longer.

The other critic, Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, retired British army officer, concerns himself only briefly with the moral aspects of strategic bombing except to note that it won't make friends among North Koreans.

He points out that if we wanted to halt the flow of materials of war we ought to be bombing plants in Russia, not Korea. He thinks we should have divided the total bomb tonnage between the eastern and western rail supply links and plastered them off the map.

But Fuller applauds the excellence of the close-in tactical air support and the use of B-29s to bomb front line troops near Taegu.

Both critics hint that the fumbles, both tactical and political, stem from unpreparedness rather than from poor basic strategy. But from the point of view of the infantryman in Korea, there is no question of international morals or politics. He delights in knowing that the B-29s are headed for the enemy's rear areas. For him the bomb comes first, the spirit a poor second.

There are two sides to all arguments—the big job being to convince the other person that his is the wrong one.

Fresh From The Garden

Vegetable gardens don't just happen—as all would-be gardeners soon find out. They have to be planned, preferably long before spade or plow begins turning over the reluctant earth. Preparations must be made for planting, weeding, spraying, cultivating fertilizer into the soil. And then the work must be done.

There is plenty of it. Even if the gardener gets his plot plowed for him, there is still plenty of it. It is no easy chore to get the seeds in on schedule, what with the weather to deal with—it sometimes seems that it always rains on weekends. When most of the planting is done, the weeds come on apace. Then come the bugs, also apace. Then the weeds and bugs come on apace together.

So it is. Any old hand will admit that his hobby means actual toil. The gardener's back aches. His knees sometimes get wobbly. His hands become caked with dirt and the skin roughens under harsh treatment. He sweats. Mosquitoes bite him. Tiny flies sting him. The sun burns him. He is often bone-tired. Sometimes he wonders why he couldn't like some other pursuit that would fill his so-called leisure hours with less painful pleasure.

That is, he may ask himself that question in March, if he is an early starter, or in April—perhaps even in May. He probably won't in June, if his peas do well, and July brings enough other things along to keep him contented with his lot. In September it never occurs to him at all, provided he has done his work manfully.

For now comes plenty. A dozen crops are ready and everything melts in the mouth. Ever put away a half dozen ears of sweet corn fresh from the garden? No need to say more.

It has been suggested that Secretary of Defense Johnson either quit the job or get a watch that keeps better time.

A Bond Idea

Sumner Slichter, a Harvard professor and one of the leading economic theorists of the country, makes a point about savings bonds, huge amounts of which the government will distribute among the populace in the next few years.

One overworked argument for savings bonds is that they remove current income from the pockets of the people which otherwise might be spent to compete for scarce wartime goods, thus aggravating inflation. And these loans to the government, it is held, build up a large deferred demand to offset decline in government spending after the war. The implication that government spending will ever decrease is not taken seriously by the more sophisticated.

Bonds bought during World War II have resulted in losses to the holders because the cost of government has gone up 35 per cent. The cost of living will continue to rise, regardless of government efforts to stabilize prices.

So Slichter proposes that the government offer savings bonds redeemable in dollars identical in purchasing power to those the purchaser invested in the bonds. If runaway inflation set in, presumably the bond holder would be buried in the long green at redemption time.

Football Recruiting

A recognized way to enforce good conduct has been to make its breach cost money. This method has now been applied by Commissioner Bernie Moore of the Southeastern Conference to stop college recruiting of high school football stars. He fined four universities $500 apiece for each offense, the University of Mississippi drawing no fewer than five fines. Louisiana State was fined twice, and Georgia and Tulane once each. As a further penalty nine high school players, who either accepted financial aid in excess of a legitimate amount or failed to work for their expenses, have been barred from Southern Conference sports.

This drastic action goes to the root of the matter. When it costs a university real money to subsidize a football player, the authorities will feel a pain in their budget and see that it does not happen again. And athletes may be chary of accepting large gifts from football-loving alumni if it might conceivably mean their disbarment from athletics at their favored school

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Pros And Cons On Contact Lenses

CONTACT LENSES are controversial and whenever we write on the subject we usually receive many letters. Some individuals are overly enthusiastic about them; others are bitter after finding they cannot wear the devices. Most of the difficulty centers about the fact that contacts are not ideal substitutes for ordinary spectacles. The converse also is true in that the lenses are indispensable in certain conditions.

One of my colleagues, an ophthalmologist of renown, asserts that only one out of every 10 individuals who purchase these lenses is satisfied with them. The remainder use them for a while and ultimately put them in a drawer where they remain forever after. In some instances dissatisfaction is caused by improper fitting; others find them impractical because they cannot be worn without discomfort for periods of more than two to 10 hours.

Plastic contact lenses are now available. There are various ways of being measured for the gadget but the best is to have a mold of the eyeball made to assure an accurate fitting. Experts in this field utilize the cold process for making the cast. The medium is placed over the orbit at room temperature and hardens in a few minutes. This is in contrast to the older method in which the mold had to be heated to a high temperature before it becomes soft and pliable. The final product is a thin transparent molded plastic which fits directly over the eye. The correction to improve vision is incorporated into the central part which covers the cornea.

Contact lenses often are used as a temporary measure for individuals who require glasses but must consider the cosmetic aspect. The actress, opera singer, or speaker falls into this category as the glare of lights frequently is reflected from the lens of ordinary glasses. Now and then contacts are worn by football players and other athletes who need glasses to see but find them too hazardous. They also are most helpful in overcoming certain types of eye disorders. In keratoconus, for example, the contact lens is "a natural" because it corrects a defect that ordinary spectacles cannot remedy. In this disturbance there is a conical protrusion of the center of the cornea which produces a high degree of nearsightedness and astigmatism. The lens compensates for the irregularity and thus improves vision.

• — • — •

The contact lens also is of value in individuals who have been operated upon for cataract and no longer have their own crystalline lens (aphacia). The condition can be corrected by spectacles but a thick piece of glass with a magnification of almost 25 per cent is required. These glasses create a cosmetic problem, especially when the operation has been performed on one eye. In the circumstances one lens is thick and heavy whereas the other is made of normal glass. By using contact lenses there is little disparity between the two sides. Because the contact lens accompanies the eye in all its movements there need not be a thick prismatic glass in order to see in all directions.

NODES

F. T. writes: What causes kernals behind the ears and below the jaws?

REPLY

There is a possibility that these lesions represent swollen glands. Nodes or enlargements occur when the scalp is infected in a bout of measles and in certain types of blood dyscrasias.

• — • — •

BLOOD AND INFETION

L. M. writes: Would infection of the tonsils or other structure in the body show up in a blood test?

REPLY

No. A high white blood count and sedimentation rate would indicate infection but would not point specifically to a certain structure such as the tonsils.

PLAYING WITH BABY

Mrs. W. writes: My husband plays rough with our infant—tossing her up into the air and hanging on to her by her ankles. Won't this make the child highstrung and nervous?

REPLY

Many papas do this as a sign of genuine affection. To the best of my knowledge no harm results from the practice unless the child obviously is terror-stricken.

• — • — •

BLOOD DISORDER

W. T. writes: What treatment is given for hemophilia?

REPLY

Nothing except to be on guard against accidents. In addition, the victim should remain in the best of health and possiblly use supplementary vitamins. When bleeding occurs, the individual must remain absolutely quiet. Material that encourages clotting is applied to the wound and if loss of blood threatens life, a transfusion is given.

E. P. writes: Will massaging the body with olive oil daily help to put on flesh?

REPLY

No, unless the exercise derived from rubbing increases appetite so that more food is consumed.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Russians Quit Broadcasting Weather Information; Lucas And Rayburn Differ On Congressional Adjournment; Ohio Republican Hopes Democrats Win This Fall

Says FRED BLUMENTHAL

Drew Pearson will be back from his vacation and writing the Washington Merry-Go-Round on Monday.

WASHINGTON — The Russians abruptly stopped broadcasting weather information this week from their weather stations north of Korea. This apparently was done to hinder U. S. airmen, who had been using the Soviet weather broadcasts to help plan their raids. These Soviet stations are part of an international network which exchanges weather information in peacetime. However, the Russians apparently decided to help the North Koreans and put the weather stations under a wartime blackout.

Democrats Tangle

Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois tangled hotly on the "adjournment" question at the Big Four leaders' meeting with President Truman this week.

Rayburn insisted that Congress should adjourn "sine die" when all emergency bills have been passed early next month. This would mean a complete shutdown until next January 3, barring a recall by the President.

"It would be better for the country if we adjourned and let things settle down," argued the Speaker. "Also, the rest of the world would get the impression that we aren't fearful of a third world war."

However, Lucas strongly urged that Congress remain formally in session, but institute "three-day recesses" to give members of both houses time to campaign.

"We are in an emergency and the country expects Congress to remain on the job," declared the Senate leader. "The recess plan would keep us on a standby basis."

"The House won't agree to anything but a sine die adjournment," Rayburn firmly insisted. The Speaker didn't have to add that the reason his colleagues are itching to adjourn is because all House members have re-election campaigns as compared with only a third of the Senate.

"This is something you will have to decide yourselves," the President said, adding that he could still recall Congress "within 24 hours" whether it adjourned sine die or invoked three-day recesses.

Washington Pipeline

President Truman will soon put all Pacific Coast ports under wartime security. His authority is contained in the new law pushed through Congress by Senator Magnuson of Washington. . . . The Senate Agriculture Committee is investigating a sub rosa oil deal, involving employes of the government-owned farm mortgage corporation. A group of employes heard about oil on federal land, and quietly bought up the mineral rights from their own agency. . . . In spite of the lessons of the Berlin airlift, the Air Force was caught short of transport planes at the Korean outbreak. One reason was the opposition of the big airlines and the Civil Aeronautics Board. Exactly one month before the Korean invasion, the CAB told Congress that "the board believes the (bill) relating to the establishment of a government pool of cargo aircraft is unnecessary and undesirable at the present time.". . . The FBI has been tipped off that a meeting of mob leaders is scheduled in Cleveland next week. . . . The price of crude rubber has jumped 300 per cent since the Korean War. . . . D. Worth Clark, who nosed out Senator Glen Taylor for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Idaho, is almost sure to be knocked off by the Republicans. They have a recording of his last radio speech before the primary. He was supposed to speak 15 minutes, but lasted only four. The remaining time had to be filled in with music. . . . Prompt action by the Philippine government in sending troops into Korea has made a big hit with key Washinton officials. Best U. S. investment in the Far East today would be broad-gauged economic aid to the Philippine people.

Splitting Hairs

Congressman Jack Anderson's bald head got involved the other day in a house hearing over whether free hospital care should be provided for servicemen's dependents.

Speaking for the American Medical Association, Dr. Walter Martin of Norfolk, Va., contended that such a medical aid program would be "discriminatory" against dependents who couldn't afford to travel long distances to government hospitals.

"That argument doesn't stand up," disagreed Anderson, a California Republican. "I pay the same taxes as a person who lives next door to a fire house, but he gets better protection."

"I think that is sort of splitting hairs . . . . is it not?" snapped Dr. Martin.

Anderson ran a hand mournfully over his hairless dome and replied: "Doctor, I don't have any hair to split."

Doubtful Republican

Ohio's hefty Congressman Clarence Brown, a big noise in the Republican Party, would just as soon see the Republicans lose the November elections.

"I am by no means sure it would be a good thing for the Republicans to win this fall," Brown told GOP intimates the other day. "It would commit us to a lot of responsibility without any of the authority of administration.

"It also might give Truman a perfect alibi in 1952 for any of his blunders, just as he blamed the Republicans in the 80th Congress. In fact, he got re-elected for that reason. We would be foolish if we jeopardized our opportunity in 1952 by taking over the legislative branch now.

"I think the Republicans will make some gains in this election," Brown added, "but I am not yet convinced it would be good for them to win control of Congress."

Legless Veterans

Several years back Congress appropriated funds to purchase automobiles for legless veterans, who find public transportation extremely difficult. Recently, however, the money ran out, and no provision has been made to buy automobiles for 150 remaining applicants approved by the Veterans Administration.

To make matters worse, no new bill has been passed by either the House or Senate to provide for an anticipated 500 service men and women who will be eligible for this assistance in the coming year. Ironically, these are the most seriously wounded cases, some of whom have spent six or seven years in veterans hospitals.

Kindly Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts has been demanding action in the House; so has Florida's Sen. Claude Pepper in the Senate. But congressional leaders are too busy with other things to rectify the tragic oversight.

"This is one of the things that must be passed because any congressional recess," Mrs. Rogers insists. "It's a debt that the United States Government owes the boys. It will be a rank injustice if action is not taken."

GOP Policy Could Form On High Rank Statement

By MARK SULLIVAN

TEN weeks from next Tuesday—on November 7, that is—the country will elect a new Congress. The election and the campaign leading up to it intensifies the country's enxiety, by its relation to the war in Korea and the whole nexus of conditions of which Korea is merely a momentarily acute manifestation. What attitude to take about that in the campaign, what plea to make to voters, is the function of the respective party organizations and leaderships.

Could Cite Position

Conceivably, and justifiably, the position of the Republicans as the opposition party could be simple and brief. They could say merely something like this: "For seventeen years the party in power has been continuously responsible for our foreign relations. The whole history of our relations with the communist government of Russia has taken place under the Presidencies of Roosevelt and Truman. It began with recognition of that government by Roosevelt during his first year in office, after recognition had been withheld by four preceding Presidents. During the last nine years, since our entry into the second world war, the Republicans have followed the principle that foreign relations should be nonpartisan; they have supported the Administration's foreign policy, and have refrained from making foreign relations an issue in election campaigns. The party in power has been responsible—and our foreign relations are what they are. Period."

The Republicans as a party could say that and stop with that. But of course much else will be said by individual Republicans, candidates for Congress and others, and will have such weight as attaches to the quality of the statements and the status of the speakers. It is recognized now that our relations with Russia, the whole nexus of conditions centering about Korea, will have a place in the campaign. The Republicans in Congress will support measures necessary for prosecution of the war, they have already done so with practical unanimity. But the Republicans will distinguish between support of what is necessary for the crisis and the history of how the crisis came to be.

One Has Authority

Of all the statements from Republican sources so far made, there is one that has such authority as to be practically official. It was put out by the five Republicans who composed the total minority party membership on the Senate Foreign Relations Commitee—the five men, that is, who among Republicans of any status have had intimate and continuous acquaintance with our policy and actions about foreign relations. The document was signed by four of the five—Senators Smith of New Jersey; Lodge of Mass., Wiley of Wis., Hickenlooper of Iowa. The fifth, Senator Vandenberg of Mich., was prevented by illness from participating in the writing of the document. But it was stated on his behalf that "he has seen the text and is in general agreement with the viewpoint here expressed by his colleagues."

Importance Elevated

In addition to uniqueness of authority, other conditions give elevation and importance to this document. It comes from men of high quality and clear thought, and this appears in what they have written. It is not a partisan appeal, and the occasion for it is not the coming election; rather than that it is a report to the people called for by the crisis in Korea and a statement of conditions and events which over a period of years have led up to the crisis. The three parts into which the report is divided are specified as: "I, an analysis of the events of 1945 which today bear so directly on America's present world position; II, an analysis of the crucial events which began in 1947; and III, our recommendations for future action."

The closing sentence of the Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee is: "On the basis of honest recognition of past errors, and courageous resolve for the future, we wholeheartedly pledge our unpartisan cooperation to final victory."

In these words is opportunity for President Truman. Like any person in comparable circumstances, he is a prisoner of past errors, some by himself, others by President Roose-

Better Mobilization Plan Would Help Reservists

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. — Two months have elapsed since the Korean war broke out, and there still is no comprehensive plan for mobilizing the manpower needed to protect the United States against a sudden outbreak of large-scale war.

Neither the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff nor the Joint Board, consisting of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, has brought forth any plan to replace those now being called into service so as to enable them to know whether they are to be in uniform a year, two years or three.

None of the reservists can make plans either for business or personal affairs. And yet there are enough reserves in the reservoir of manpower so that some definite program of rotation can be evolved. Here is a typical letter received by this correspondent from a reservist in St. Louis:

"I am a lieutenant in the Naval Reserve and have been active in the program. I am now 34 years old and have three small children—six and three years and 18 months old. Also I am now at the point in my business where I am getting a better than average remuneration. Time lost, even in the service, will certainly not enhance my progress.

Prefers To Be "In"

"Now, while not yet having received orders, I am faced with the prospect of being away—at sea, at an advance base, or some place distant from my family. Thirty-two months I served in the second war, the last twenty of them being at sea. And I want to say that if this present thing flames out into a whole-scale war, you can just consider this letter never written. For I would much prefer being 'in' than 'out' if these were the circumstances.

"The disturbing thing to me is that those of us with dependents hear nothing from any source about billets, nor is any program being even envisioned that will let us out after we have served a reasonable length of time. On the contrary, a friend of mine was told last month by the Navy that they were accepting no more applications for commissions in my field—supply. And where does that leave those of us that are in?"

It was understandable a few weeks ago that the top military chiefs would be busy getting men to the Far East and that they might not be able then to reveal how long a period of service might be required of reservists. But the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force have had ample opportunity since then to survey the situation and develop some alternative program for replacements.

There has been, it will be noted, time to draw up plans for and advocate legislation creating a system of universal military training. While this is desirable, it is a second and not a first step. At the moment what is needed is for some top agency to begin to bring order out of the chaos into which the whole reserve situation has been plunged.

Rotation System Possible

The Army has enough officers in its organized reserve to fill the needs of 24 divisions at 80 per cent of strength. This is in addition to the National Guard, which can supply officer needs for an equally large force. On the face of things, therefore, there would appear to be plenty of officers for a system of rotation with a year or 18 months of duty in filling the needs of the small number of army units now being mobilized.

The same thing is true of the Navy and the Air Force—there are plenty of reserves on the active and inactive status. Also a large number of officers have come out of the Reserve Officers Training Corps in the colleges during the last five years who were too young to see service in World War II. They would seem to be available for use soon as substitutes for some of the older officers.

If, of course, large-scale war breaks out, then it will be necessary to have officers with combat experience. But this need not prevent the early development and announcement of a plan for replacement of officers and men so that, unless emergencies occur, the reservists can be told now to plan on a definite period of duty—either one year or 18 months. Most of them, if they were given some such assurance, could then feel less concerned about family arrangements in the interim or about the possibility that their places in business or in their professions might not be held for them. The government certainly owes the reservists more cooperation and better planning than has thus far been given the subject by the persons in authority in the three armed services.

New York Politics

THINGS have been happening in New York politically which have everyone confused, but most of all the politicians. Last June, Governor Thomas E. Dewey announced that he would not run again. He said that he wanted to engage in the practice of the law and that he would live in New York City. Whereupon, the Republicans decided that their candidate would be Lieutenant-Governor Joe Hanley, who is popular in the upstate farm areas but is not so well known in New York City.

So, the Democrats felt that with the assistance of Dave Dubinsky's Liberal Party, they could elect anybody. They eliminated James A. Farley, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., the Judges Pecora and Froessel, and decided on Paul Fitzpatrick, the Democratic chairman of New York State, who, while well known to the Democrats, is hardly known by anyone else.

Meanwhile, the Korean war developed into more than a skirmish and Tom Dewey stepped out and made a strong speech. So, the politicians in both camps became nervous and began to speculate that Dewey might change his mind, which he might well do.

Also, meanwhile, Bill O'Dwyer, mayor of New York, who was elected for a four-year term last November, was rumored to have gubernatorial ambitions. Bill O'Dwyer is not much of a mayor, taking long and distant vacations on numerous occasions. Also, he has been busy doing some publicized courting and marrying. And there is a fear that the atom bomb might do more damage than dirty streets and bad traffic and inept management. Lots of citizens felt that as the mayor has been elected for four years, he ought to stay four years and do a man's job.

Also, meanwhile, over in Brooklyn, where the Dodgers hold forth, a district attorney and a grand jury have been prying into the relationship of the professional gamblers, who infest that area, and the police. Bill O'Dwyer has a special relationship to the police, he having once been a cop and a magistrate and a district attorney. So, he got all excited and called the investigation a witch hunt and generally acted like a bad boy.

In the midst of which, Ed Flynn, the Bronx boss, suggested to Harry Truman that it would be very good if Bill O'Dwyer were appointed as the American ambassador to Mexico, he having had no experience in diplomacy or even in being diplomatic. Perhaps Boss Flynn feels that O'Dwyer can do less harm to the democracy in Mexico City than he can in New York.

So, Bill O'Dwyer is to be our next ambassador to Mexico City. That means that in one election, the voters in New York City will have to vote for a governor, a United States senator, and a mayor, and if that can be packaged for one political party, that party can carry the state as well as the city.

New York City is a peculiar place where group voting is not only possible but usual. So the politicians nominate not the best citizens but such as fit a balance among Jews, Catholics, and Protestants, among Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Italians and finally the so-called liberals, led by David Dubinsky. There is nothing American in group voting, nor does it in any way benefit the city or the state. But they do it that way.

The Democrats will nominate Herbert Lehman for United States senator. The Republicans have no candidate who can defeat Lehman. If Tom Dewey should change his mind and run for governor, he might be elected—probably would be—but he could not pull a nonentity into the United States Senate against Herbert Lehman, who, while no great shakes, is extremely popular and respected.

The Republicans also have no candidate for mayor; the Democrats have two: Vincent Impellitteri, who is a good official and who will serve in that office until next January because of O'Dwyer's resignation, and Lazarus Joseph, who is the choice and henchman of Ed Flynn and who would put the boss into the city hall. A combination of Ed Flynn and David Dubinsky could elect even Lazarous Joseph or anyone else.

So there it is for the Empire State and the biggest city in the world and 10 per cent of the American people. Not a pretty picture—but no one seems to care very much.

Strategic Bombing Helps The Infantry

The latest argument against the "ineffectual" results of strategic bombing, as carried out by the Air Force in Korea comes from two respected military experts. One is an American, the other a Briton.

The case built by Hanson Baldwin, New York Times military analyst, makes good reading. His contention is that we are going about winning the battle of the "spirit" the wrong way since we are sending our B-29s far back of the front and bombing industrial targets. Presumably, many civilians have been killed or maimed.

Briefly, he feels that we have let the short range military advantages of strategic bombing outweigh the long range political and moral advantages. When and if the tide turns and we seek the friendship of all Koreans our job will be that much harder and longer.

The other critic, Maj. Gen. J. F. C. Fuller, retired British army officer, concerns himself only briefly with the moral aspects of strategic bombing except to note that it won't make friends among North Koreans.

He points out that if we wanted to halt the flow of materials of war we ought to be bombing plants in Russia, not Korea. He thinks we should have divided the total bomb tonnage between the eastern and western rail supply links and plastered them off the map.

But Fuller applauds the excellence of the close-in tactical air support and the use of B-29s to bomb front line troops near Taegu.

Both critics hint that the fumbles, both tactical and political, stem from unpreparedness rather than from poor basic strategy. But from the point of view of the infantryman in Korea, there is no question of international morals or politics. He delights in knowing that the B-29s are headed for the enemy's rear areas. For him the bomb comes first, the spirit a poor second.

There are two sides to all arguments—the big job being to convince the other person that his is the wrong one.

Fresh From The Garden

Vegetable gardens don't just happen—as all would-be gardeners soon find out. They have to be planned, preferably long before spade or plow begins turning over the reluctant earth. Preparations must be made for planting, weeding, spraying, cultivating fertilizer into the soil. And then the work must be done.

There is plenty of it. Even if the gardener gets his plot plowed for him, there is still plenty of it. It is no easy chore to get the seeds in on schedule, what with the weather to deal with—it sometimes seems that it always rains on weekends. When most of the planting is done, the weeds come on apace. Then come the bugs, also apace. Then the weeds and bugs come on apace together.

So it is. Any old hand will admit that his hobby means actual toil. The gardener's back aches. His knees sometimes get wobbly. His hands become caked with dirt and the skin roughens under harsh treatment. He sweats. Mosquitoes bite him. Tiny flies sting him. The sun burns him. He is often bone-tired. Sometimes he wonders why he couldn't like some other pursuit that would fill his so-called leisure hours with less painful pleasure.

That is, he may ask himself that question in March, if he is an early starter, or in April—perhaps even in May. He probably won't in June, if his peas do well, and July brings enough other things along to keep him contented with his lot. In September it never occurs to him at all, provided he has done his work manfully.

For now comes plenty. A dozen crops are ready and everything melts in the mouth. Ever put away a half dozen ears of sweet corn fresh from the garden? No need to say more.

It has been suggested that Secretary of Defense Johnson either quit the job or get a watch that keeps better time.

A Bond Idea

Sumner Slichter, a Harvard professor and one of the leading economic theorists of the country, makes a point about savings bonds, huge amounts of which the government will distribute among the populace in the next few years.

One overworked argument for savings bonds is that they remove current income from the pockets of the people which otherwise might be spent to compete for scarce wartime goods, thus aggravating inflation. And these loans to the government, it is held, build up a large deferred demand to offset decline in government spending after the war. The implication that government spending will ever decrease is not taken seriously by the more sophisticated.

Bonds bought during World War II have resulted in losses to the holders because the cost of government has gone up 35 per cent. The cost of living will continue to rise, regardless of government efforts to stabilize prices.

So Slichter proposes that the government offer savings bonds redeemable in dollars identical in purchasing power to those the purchaser invested in the bonds. If runaway inflation set in, presumably the bond holder would be buried in the long green at redemption time.

Football Recruiting

A recognized way to enforce good conduct has been to make its breach cost money. This method has now been applied by Commissioner Bernie Moore of the Southeastern Conference to stop college recruiting of high school football stars. He fined four universities $500 apiece for each offense, the University of Mississippi drawing no fewer than five fines. Louisiana State was fined twice, and Georgia and Tulane once each. As a further penalty nine high school players, who either accepted financial aid in excess of a legitimate amount or failed to work for their expenses, have been barred from Southern Conference sports.

This drastic action goes to the root of the matter. When it costs a university real money to subsidize a football player, the authorities will feel a pain in their budget and see that it does not happen again. And athletes may be chary of accepting large gifts from football-loving alumni if it might conceivably mean their disbarment from athletics at their favored school.

Pros And Cons On Contact Lenses

CONTACT LENSES are controversial and whenever we write on the subject we usually receive many letters. Some individuals are overly enthusiastic about them; others are bitter after finding they cannot wear the devices. Most of the difficulty centers about the fact that contacts are not ideal substitutes for ordinary spectacles. The converse also is true in that the lenses are indispensable in certain conditions.

One of my colleagues, an ophthalmologist of renown, asserts that only one out of every 10 individuals who purchase these lenses is satisfied with them. The remainder use them for a while and ultimately put them in a drawer where they remain forever after. In some instances dissatisfaction is caused by improper fitting; others find them impractical because they cannot be worn without discomfort for periods of more than two to 10 hours.

Plastic contact lenses are now available. There are various ways of being measured for the gadget but the best is to have a mold of the eyeball made to assure an accurate fitting. Experts in this field utilize the cold process for making the cast. The medium is placed over the orbit at room temperature and hardens in a few minutes. This is in contrast to the older method in which the mold had to be heated to a high temperature before it becomes soft and pliable. The final product is a thin transparent molded plastic which fits directly over the eye. The correction to improve vision is incorporated into the central part which covers the cornea.

Contact lenses often are used as a temporary measure for individuals who require glasses but must consider the cosmetic aspect. The actress, opera singer, or speaker falls into this category as the glare of lights frequently is reflected from the lens of ordinary glasses. Now and then contacts are worn by football players and other athletes who need glasses to see but find them too hazardous. They also are most helpful in overcoming certain types of eye disorders. In keratoconus, for example, the contact lens is "a natural" because it corrects a defect that ordinary spectacles cannot remedy. In this disturbance there is a conical protrusion of the center of the cornea which produces a high degree of nearsightedness and astigmatism. The lens compensates for the irregularity and thus improves vision.

• — • — •

The contact lens also is of value in individuals who have been operated upon for cataract and no longer have their own crystalline lens (aphacia). The condition can be corrected by spectacles but a thick piece of glass with a magnification of almost 25 per cent is required. These glasses create a cosmetic problem, especially when the operation has been performed on one eye. In the circumstances one lens is thick and heavy whereas the other is made of normal glass. By using contact lenses there is little disparity between the two sides. Because the contact lens accompanies the eye in all its movements there need not be a thick prismatic glass in order to see in all directions.

NODES

F. T. writes: What causes kernals behind the ears and below the jaws?

There is a possibility that these lesions represent swollen glands. Nodes or enlargements occur when the scalp is infected in a bout of measles and in certain types of blood dyscrasias.

BLOOD AND INFETION

L. M. writes: Would infection of the tonsils or other structure in the body show up in a blood test?

No. A high white blood count and sedimentation rate would indicate infection but would not point specifically to a certain structure such as the tonsils.

Mrs. W. writes: My husband plays rough with our infant—tossing her up into the air and hanging on to her by her ankles. Won't this make the child highstrung and nervous?

Many papas do this as a sign of genuine affection. To the best of my knowledge no harm results from the practice unless the child obviously is terror-stricken.

BLOOD DISORDER

REPLY

Nothing except to be on guard against accidents. In addition, the victim should remain in the best of health and possibly use supplementary vitamins. Russians Quit Broadcasting Weather Information; Lucas And Rayburn Differ On Congressional Adjournment; Ohio Republican Hopes Democrats Win This Fall

Says FRED BLUMENTHAL

Drew Pearson will be back from his vacation and writing the Washington Merry-Go-Round on Monday.

WASHINGTON — The Russians abruptly stopped broadcasting weather information this week from their weather stations north of Korea. This apparently was done to hinder U. S. airmen, who had been using the Soviet weather broadcasts to help plan their raids. These Soviet stations are part of an international network which exchanges weather information in peacetime. However, the Russians apparently decided to help the North Koreans and put the weather stations under a wartime blackout.

Democrats Tangle

Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois tangled hotly on the "adjournment" question at the Big Four leaders' meeting with President Truman this week.

Rayburn insisted that Congress should adjourn "sine die" when all emergency bills have been passed early next month. This would mean a complete shutdown until next January 3, barring a recall by the President.

"It would be better for the country if we adjourned and let things settle down," argued the Speaker. "Also, the rest of the world would get the impression that we aren't fearful of a third world war."

However, Lucas strongly urged that Congress remain formally in session, but institute "three-day recesses" to give members of both houses time to campaign.

"We are in an emergency and the country expects Congress to remain on the job," declared the Senate leader. "The recess plan would keep us on a standby basis."

"The House won't agree to anything but a sine die adjournment," Rayburn firmly insisted. The Speaker didn't have to add that the reason his colleagues are itching to adjourn is because all House members have re-election campaigns as compared with only a third of the Senate.

"This is something you will have to decide yourselves," the President said, adding that he could still recall Congress "within 24 hours" whether it adjourned sine die or invoked three-day recesses.

Washington Pipeline

President Truman will soon put all Pacific Coast ports under wartime security. His authority is contained in the new law pushed through Congress by Senator Magnuson of Washington. . . . The Senate Agriculture Committee is investigating a sub rosa oil deal, involving employes of the government-owned farm mortgage corporation. A group of employes heard about oil on federal land, and quietly bought up the mineral rights from their own agency. . . . In spite of the lessons of the Berlin airlift, the Air Force was caught short of transport planes at the Korean outbreak. One reason was the opposition of the big airlines and the Civil Aeronautics Board. Exactly one month before the Korean invasion, the CAB told Congress that "the board believes the (bill) relating to the establishment of a government pool of cargo aircraft is unnecessary and undesirable at the present time.". . . The FBI has been tipped off that a meeting of mob leaders is scheduled in Cleveland next week. . . . The price of crude rubber has jumped 300 per cent since the Korean War. . . . D. Worth Clark, who nosed out Senator Glen Taylor for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Idaho, is almost sure to be knocked off by the Republicans. They have a recording of his last radio speech before the primary. He was supposed to speak 15 minutes, but lasted only four. The remaining time had to be filled in with music. . . . Prompt action by the Philippine government in sending troops into Korea has made a big hit with key Washinton officials. Best U. S. investment in the Far East today would be broad-gauged economic aid to the Philippine people.

Splitting Hairs

Congressman Jack Anderson's bald head got involved the other day in a house hearing over whether free hospital care should be provided for servicemen's dependents.

Speaking for the American Medical Association, Dr. Walter Martin of Norfolk, Va., contended that such a medical aid program would be "discriminatory" against dependents who couldn't afford to travel long distances to government hospitals.

"That argument doesn't stand up," disagreed Anderson, a California Republican. "I pay the same taxes as a person who lives next door to a fire house, but he gets better protection."

"I think that is sort of splitting hairs . . . . is it not?" snapped Dr. Martin.

Anderson ran a hand mournfully over his hairless dome and replied: "Doctor, I don't have any hair to split."

Doubtful Republican

Ohio's hefty Congressman Clarence Brown, a big noise in the Republican Party, would just as soon see the Republicans lose the November elections.

"I am by no means sure it would be a good thing for the Republicans to win this fall," Brown told GOP intimates the other day. "It would commit us to a lot of responsibility without any of the authority of administration.

"It also might give Truman a perfect alibi in 1952 for any of his blunders, just as he blamed the Republicans in the 80th Congress. In fact, he got re-elected for that reason. We would be foolish if we jeopardized our opportunity in 1952 by taking over the legislative branch now.

"I think the Republicans will make some gains in this election," Brown added, "but I am not yet convinced it would be good for them to win control of Congress."

Legless Veterans

Several years back Congress appropriated funds to purchase automobiles for legless veterans, who find public transportation extremely difficult. Recently, however, the money ran out, and no provision has been made to buy automobiles for 150 remaining applicants approved by the Veterans Administration.

To make matters worse, no new bill has been passed by either the House or Senate to provide for an anticipated 500 service men and women who will be eligible for this assistance in the coming year. Ironically, these are the most seriously wounded cases, some of whom have spent six or seven years in veterans hospitals.

Kindly Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts has been demanding action in the House; so has Florida's Sen. Claude Pepper in the Senate. But congressional leaders are too busy with other things to rectify the tragic oversight.

"This is one of the things that must be passed because any congressional recess," Mrs. Rogers insists. "It's a debt that the United States Government owes the boys. It will be a rank injustice if action is not taken."

Better Mobilization Plan Would Help Reservists

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. — Two months have elapsed since the Korean war broke out, and there still is no comprehensive plan for mobilizing the manpower needed to protect the United States against a sudden outbreak of large-scale war.

Neither the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff nor the Joint Board, consisting of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force, has brought forth any plan to replace those now being called into service so as to enable them to know whether they are to be in uniform a year, two years or three.

And I want to say that if this present thing flames out into a whole-scale war, you can just consider this letter never written. For I would much prefer being 'in' than 'out' if these were the circumstances.

"The disturbing thing to me is that those of us with dependents hear nothing from any source about billets, nor is any program being even envisioned that will let us out after we have served a reasonable length of time. On the contrary, a friend of mine was told last month by the Navy that they were accepting no more applications for commissions in my field—supply. And where does that leave those of us that are in?"

It was understandable a few weeks ago that the top military chiefs would be busy getting men to the Far East and that they might not be able then to reveal how long a period of service might be required of reservists. But the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force have had ample opportunity since then to survey the situation and develop some alternative program for replacements.

There has been, it will be noted, time to draw up plans for and advocate legislation creating a system of universal military training. While this is desirable, it is a second and not a first step. At the moment what is needed is for some top agency to begin to bring order out of the chaos into which the whole reserve situation has been plunged.

Rotation System Possible

The Army has enough officers in its organized reserve to fill the needs of 24 divisions at 80 per cent of strength. This is in addition to the National Guard, which can supply officer needs for an equally large force. On the face of things, therefore, there would appear to be plenty of officers for a system of rotation with a year or 18 months of duty in filling the needs of the small number of army units now being mobilized.

The same thing is true of the Navy and the Air Force—there are plenty of reserves on the active and inactive status. Also a large number of officers have come out of the Reserve Officers Training Corps in the colleges during the last five years who were too young to see service in World War II. They would seem to be available for use soon as substitutes for some of the older officers.

If, of course, large-scale war breaks out, then it will be necessary to have officers with combat experience. But this need not prevent the early development and announcement of a plan for replacement of officers and men so that, unless emergencies occur, the reservists can be told now to plan on a definite period of duty—either one year or 18 months. Most of them, if they were given some such assurance, could then feel less concerned about family arrangements in the interim or about the possibility that their places in business or in their professions might not be held for them. The government certainly owes the reservists more cooperation and better planning than has thus far been given the subject by the persons in authority in the three armed services.

New York Politics

THINGS have been happening in New York politically which have everyone confused, but most of all the politicians. Last June, Governor Thomas E. Dewey announced that he would not run again. He said that he wanted to engage in the practice of the law and that he would live in New York City. Whereupon, the Republicans decided that their candidate would be Lieutenant-Governor Joe Hanley, who is popular in the upstate farm areas but is not so well known in New York City.

So, the Democrats felt that with the assistance of Dave Dubinsky's Liberal Party, they could elect anybody. They eliminated James A. Farley, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., the Judges Pecora and Froessel, and decided on Paul Fitzpatrick, the Democratic chairman of New York State, who, while well known to the Democrats, is hardly known by anyone else.

Meanwhile, the Korean war developed into more than a skirmish and Tom Dewey stepped out and made a strong speech. So, the politicians in both camps became nervous and began to speculate that Dewey might change his mind, which he might well do.

Also, meanwhile, Bill O'Dwyer, mayor of New York, who was elected for a four-year term last November, was rumored to have gubernatorial ambitions. Bill O'Dwyer is not much of a mayor, taking long and distant vacations on numerous occasions. Also, he has been busy doing some publicized courting and marrying. And there is a fear that the atom bomb might do more damage than dirty streets and bad traffic and inept management. Lots of citizens felt that as the mayor has been elected for four years, he ought to stay four years and do a man's job.

Also, meanwhile, over in Brooklyn, where the Dodgers hold forth, a district attorney and a grand jury have been prying into the relationship of the professional gamblers, who infest that area, and the police. Bill O'Dwyer has a special relationship to the police, he having once been a cop and a magistrate and a district attorney. So, he got all excited and called the investigation a witch hunt and generally acted like a bad boy.

In the midst of which, Ed Flynn, the Bronx boss, suggested to Harry Truman that it would be very good if Bill O'Dwyer were appointed as the American ambassador to Mexico, he having had no experience in diplomacy or even in being diplomatic. Perhaps Boss Flynn feels that O'Dwyer can do less harm to the democracy in Mexico City than he can in New York.

So, Bill O'Dwyer is to be our next ambassador to Mexico City. That means that in one election, the voters in New York City will have to vote for a governor, a United States senator, and a mayor, and if that can be packaged for one political party, that party can carry the state as well as the city.

New York City is a peculiar place where group voting is not only possible but usual. So the politicians nominate not the best citizens but such as fit a balance among Jews, Catholics, and Protestants, among Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Italians and finally the so-called liberals, led by David Dubinsky. There is nothing American in group voting, nor does it in any way benefit the city or the state. But they do it that way.

The Democrats will nominate Herbert Lehman for United States senator. The Republicans have no candidate who can defeat Lehman. If Tom Dewey should change his mind and run for governor, he might be elected—probably would be—but he could not pull a nonentity into the United States Senate against Herbert Lehman, who, while no great shakes, is extremely popular and respected.

The Republicans also have no candidate for mayor; the Democrats have two: Vincent Impellitteri, who is a good official and who will serve in that office until next January because of O'Dwyer's resignation, and Lazarus Joseph, who is the choice and henchman of Ed Flynn and who would put the boss into the city hall. A combination of Ed Flynn and David Dubinsky could elect even Lazarous Joseph or anyone else.

So there it is for the Empire State and the biggest city in the world and 10 per cent of the American people. Not a pretty picture—but no one seems to care very much.

Gov. Lane said yesterday his opents for renomination "tell the ple that they will do everything have done and do it for less ney."

But they don't say how they're ng to do it, Lane declared in a tement from his campaign headrters.

fore than 41 per cent of the state get—$59,500,000—is money which the state turns back to Baltimore City, the counties and the incorporated towns, Lane repeated.

"Now, I ask the point-blank question," he said, "should we cut that down?

"Should we cut it out? I receive no replies to these simple, staightforward questions. Why is it that my opponents will not tell the people precisely what they plan to do with an item of this magnitude?"

Lane's remarks were taken to be levelled principally at George P. Mahoney, his chief opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor in the Sept. 18 primaries. Mahoney has been hammering away at Lane's spending policies, which he terms "extravagant."

Mahoney's headquarters, meanwhile, announced that a "motorcade of veterans-for-Mahoney" will leave Baltimore this morning on the first of a series of statewide tours to plug their candidate.

The motorcade will go to Easton, picking up other supporters on the way, for a Democratic rally and crab feast to be held at the Easton Armory this afternoon.

'Market Basket' Cost Increases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The Agriculture Department indicated today that the cost of food for an average family of three was $19.50 a week during July—an increase of about three per cent over June.

The department estimated its "market basket" cost of food for such a family in July at $673 on annual basis—or about $13 a week. But it explained that the real cost is about 50 per cent more.

The "market basket" figures do not allow for the higher per capita food consumption now as compared with prewar years, nor do they include imported foods or other foods of non-farm origin.

The $673 annual rate for July purchases compares with $653 for June, $634 for May and a low for the year of $611 for February. The average rate in the prewar years of 1935-39 was $341.

The "market basket" figures are computed on the assumption that only the same kind and amounts of food are purchased now as during the prewar years.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—The bludgeoned, partly nude body of a 34-year-old mother was found today in a lane near Long Island's Aqueduct horse race track.

Police believed a sex fiend killed the red-headed woman, Mrs. Theresa Maguire, a truck driver's wife, of Jamaica, Queens. Her home is about two miles from where her body was found.

She had been struck seven times in the head and face. Police said she died of a fractured skull.

Bare from the waist up, the body was found about 500 feet from the track's backstretch.

The body was lying on a red dress which had been removed. About her legs a yellow jacket was tangled. Nearby was her bloodstained handbag.

Her husband, James Maguire, 35, identified the body at a morgue.

Maguire was quoted by police as saying he was "a little curious" when he awakened at 6 a. m. to go to work and found his wife absent.

The husband said he intended to telephone his home later in the day but police informed him of the slaying before he called.

Here's a coincidence.

Teams battling for the pennant in three district leagues hold the spotlight in games billed for today and Sunday.

At Petersburg (W. Va.) tomorrow a ding dong battle is anticipated when Leo Skidmore, one - time Cumberland Colts' pitcher, brings his Franklin American Legion tossers to town.

Franklin's leading the Allegheny League as the teams go into the final game of the season tomorrow. Petersburg trails by a game and could tie it up by winning tomorrow.

There's also a natural in the Mountain Top League tomorrow with Oakland (12-4) battling Crellin (12-5) at the latter place. A victory would put Crellin in first place. This race ends Sept. 17.

Today the top pennant contenders in the Interstate League—Everett and Centerville—collide at Centerville. Everett now leads (19 - 7) but Centerville (18-8) could tie it up with a win today and could take over the top berth with another win on Sunday over the Hyndman VFW.

The Interstate pennant race concludes on Labor Day.

We thought the best looking pitcher in the Little League All-Star game Wednesday night was Don Paye, the loose as a goose southpaw of the Indians who twirled three innings for the winning Dans.

Paye faced 11 batters, threw the third strike past seven, issued one walk and yield two hits, one being of the scratch variety.

Do you know that the Dappers hit only three balls out of the infield off the combined slants of McGregor, Paye and Murray in the 7-inning game?

Joe Louis Says He'll KO Charles

Hopes To Do It In Early Rounds

Louis by a knockout! So runs Joe Louis' own prediction for his comeback heavyweight title fight with Ezzard Charles in New York Sept. 27. Following is the last of four articles on the Brown Bomber.

By RAY GRODY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 25—(AP)—There's no questioning Joe Louis' confidence in his comeback against Ezzard Charles set for New York's Yankee Satdium the night of Sept. 27.

Here's what the former heavyweight champ says:

"I expect to knock out Charles. When, I can't say now. I'll know better when we get to Pompton Lakes, N. J., where I start heavy drills later this month.

"Then I'll map out a plan of battle with Mannie Seamon, my trainer. But I'm sure I can and will stop Charles, probably in the early rounds."

Is Louis taking Charles lightly? Answered Joe:

Doesn't Punch Hard

"Not at all. He's a good fighter, the best around today, and he's badly underrated by a lot of people. But he doesn't punch hard and I don't have to worry too much about getting hit. He's a good boxer; so was Jersey Joe Walcott. But they make mistakes.

"One mistake is all I need. That's how I got Billy Conn and then Walcott in the second fight."

The way Louis figures now, he won't lay back the way he did against Walcott.

"I'm going out after Charles," he says. "Make him fight—that's my best chance."

Do his plans go farther than the Charles fight?

Louis said:

"Well, I can't say for sure now But if things go the way I expect them to, I'd like to fight again this year. One thing's sure—there'll be no more exhibitions."

What about his position with the International Boxing Club, now that he's back to fighting?

Said Louis:

Resigns As I B C Director

"I resigned from my post as boxing director of the IBC, and I'm strictly a fighter. I may return to the organization again when I figure I can't fight any more.

"But right now I'm thinking of only one thing—winning back that title. There is more than one reason for my going after it. As you know, there are some back taxes, and just as important, I want to prove to the fight public that I can win that title back again.

"It's never been done before but that doesn't worry me. I'll win it!"

You could just feel the finality in Louis' prediction.

Cleveland Browns Top Lions, 35-14

AKRON, O., Aug. 25—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns beat the Detroit Lions, 35 to 14, tonight before 23,607 fans at the Akron Rubber Bowl for their third straight victory of the exhibition football season.

Otto Graham's passes and Marion Motley's runs were big factors in the Browns' scoring. Graham tossed two touchdown heaves to Red Baumgardner and bulled over himself from the two after his aerials had opened the way for a third score.

Motley ran 41 yards for a fourth touchdown, and carried 33 yards in another drive as Baumgardner went eight for the six points.

The Lions scored twice in the final period on short plunges by Dan Sandifer and John Panelli to escape a shutout.

Frank Stranahan To Play Urzetta In Amateur Final

Ward And Knowles Lose In Tourney

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 25 (AP)—Sam Urzetta, the job hunting collegian from Rochester, N. Y., and Frank Stranahan, the unemployed millionaire from Toledo, will play tomorrow for the National Amateur golf crown.

Stranahan played hot and cold golf today to eliminate John Ward of Clay, N. Y., 1 up, while Urzetta was as steady as a rock in sending Robert Knowles of Brookline, Mass., to the sidelines, 6 and 5.

Surprisingly, it was Stranahan, the British Amateur Champion and the prohibitive favorite here, who had to hustle for his victory in the 36-hole semi-finals over the 6,655 yards and the 108 traps that make up the Minneapolis Golf Club course.

The Ohioan pushed two shots out of bounds on the third hole of the morning round and never got ahead of the gum-chewing lawyer from Syracuse until the eighth hole of the afternoon.

Urzetta, on the other hand, lost the first hole by sending his second host over the green. He took the second to pull even with the great grandson of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and then steadily moved ahead.

The day's golf included everything. Stranahan put two out of bounds on one hole; Ward hooked so sharply off one tee his drive struck a spectator in the leg; Knowles needed so many strokes to get on the green of the fourteenth he conceded the hole without putting; Urzetta lost a hole when his putter accidentally touched his ball while he was surveying a stymie.

Illinois Gunner Wins $8,000 Prize At Vandalia Traps

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 25. (AP)—Oscar Scheske, Jr., 48-year-old trapshooting unknown from Belleville, Ill., came from nowhere in the closing minutes today to win the clay targets' biggest prize, the Grand American Handicap.

Scheske, a real estate broker who has been shooting clay targets only two years, picked up approximately $8,000 for his victory over a field of 1,737 of the country's greatest marksmen.

He was in the 329th squad of the 348 five-man combinations which faced the traps in the 100-target feature of the 51st Grand American trapshoot and his perfect score—sixth in the history of the classic—erased the hopes of seven others who had tied at 99 of 100.

The biggest shoot-off in the Roaring Grand's history was in prospect until Scheske came up with his 100 straight.

Sugar Robinson Flattens Basora In 52 Seconds

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 25 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson knocked out Jose Basora tonight in less than a minute to defend successfully his middleweight championship, Pennsylvania version.

It was one of the fastest knockouts in championship history. Referee Johnny Kelly counted the Puerto Rican contender out in 52 seconds.

Basora was knocked down four times in the fast and furious action.

The Harlem Sugar weighed in at 159¾, Basora at 154¾.

Ken McGregor Blasts Veteran Ted Schroeder

Sedgman Conquers Brown, Trophy May Change Hands Today

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 25 (AP)—Black disaster struck America's tennis forces today when two brilliant Australian youngsters beat the daylights out of the best this country could summon and virtually clinched the Davis Cup before the challenge round had well begun.

Ken McGregor, a 20 - year - old wizard from down under, pulled one of the great upsets of cup history by blasting the veteran Ted Schroeder off the courts, 13-11, 6-3, 6-4.

8,000 Witness Rout

His 22-year-old teammate, Frank Sedgman, banged across another straight set victory over Tom Brown, Jr., 6-0, 8-6, 9-7, before 8,000 unbelieving spectators in the big horseshoe stadium.

When the last shot had been fired on Black Friday, the cup defenders were left with little or no hope of retaining the trophy they have held since they brought it back from Australia in 1946.

All the wildly celebrating Aussies will need do is capture tomorrow's doubles match to make it official, and they were more or less conceded a triumph in the tandem event before the matches started.

If the huge, gleaming cup goes back to the other side of the world this time, it probably will remain there a long time, for the Aussies unveiled today a pair of all-court players with tremendous services who will be hard to take in the foreseeable future.

McGregor, only two years removed from the ranks of the ball boys and playing in his first challenge round, had the experts exclaiming with his masterful performance against the 29-year-old Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., who never before had met his match in Davis Cup singles.

Ted Meets Master

Today Ted not only met his match, but his master in a 190-pound six-foot-three athlete who covered court like the dew and exhibited one of the biggest services seen in years. Schroeder, though playing near his best, succeeded in breaking McGregor's serve only once, and that at the very outset.

From there on, McGregor toed the service line 20 straight times and either rifled bullets past Schroeder or smashed errors off the American's racquet. He never yielded his delivery again, and it was only a matter of time until the tiring Ted could hold his own service no longer against the towering youngster who rushed the net at every opportunity.

Sedgman was expected to defeat Brown unless the San Francisco barrister struck one of the unbeatable streaks of tennis for which he was noted three or four years ago. Tom didn't and after he dropped the opening set at Love, there was never much question of the outcome.

Face National Champs

Sedgman wasn't as impressive as his teammate was to prove later, but he was adequate for the job at hand.

Both captains said they would stick with their previously announced doubles teams in tomorrow's match, starting at 1:30 (EST), Schroeder and Gardnar Mulloy were down to tackle Sedgman and John Bromwich, who only last week won the national doubles title at Brookline, Mass.

Here's a coincidence.

Teams battling for the pennant in three district leagues hold the spotlight in games billed for today and Sunday.

At Petersburg (W. Va.) tomorrow a ding dong battle is anticipated when Leo Skidmore, one - time Cumberland Colts' pitcher, brings his Franklin American Legion tossers to town.

Franklin's leading the Allegheny League as the teams go into the final game of the season tomorrow. Petersburg trails by a game and could tie it up by winning tomorrow.

There's also a natural in the Mountain Top League tomorrow with Oakland (12-4) battling Crellin (12-5) at the latter place. A victory would put Crellin in first place. This race ends Sept. 17.

Today the top pennant contenders in the Interstate League—Everett and Centerville—collide at Centerville. Everett now leads (19 - 7) but Centerville (18-8) could tie it up with a win today and could take over the top berth with another win on Sunday over the Hyndman VFW.

The Interstate pennant race concludes on Labor Day.

We thought the best looking pitcher in the Little League All-Star game Wednesday night was Don Paye, the loose as a goose southpaw of the Indians who twirled three innings for the winning Dans.

Paye faced 11 batters, threw the third strike past seven, issued one walk and yield two hits, one being of the scratch variety.

Do you know that the Dappers hit only three balls out of the infield off the combined slants of McGregor, Paye and Murray in the 7-inning game?

Joe Louis Says He'll KO Charles

Hopes To Do It In Early Rounds

Louis by a knockout! So runs Joe Louis' own prediction for his comeback heavyweight title fight with Ezzard Charles in New York Sept. 27. Following is the last of four articles on the Brown Bomber.

By RAY GRODY

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 25—There's no questioning Joe Louis' confidence in his comeback against Ezzard Charles set for New York's Yankee Satdium the night of Sept. 27.

Here's what the former heavyweight champ says:

"I expect to knock out Charles. When, I can't say now. I'll know better when we get to Pompton Lakes, N. J., where I start heavy drills later this month.

"Then I'll map out a plan of battle with Mannie Seamon, my trainer. But I'm sure I can and will stop Charles, probably in the early rounds."

Is Louis taking Charles lightly? Answered Joe:

Doesn't Punch Hard

"Not at all. He's a good fighter, the best around today, and he's badly underrated by a lot of people. But he doesn't punch hard and I don't have to worry too much about getting hit. He's a good boxer; so was Jersey Joe Walcott. But they make mistakes.

"One mistake is all I need. That's how I got Billy Conn and then Walcott in the second fight."

The way Louis figures now, he won't lay back the way he did against Walcott.

"I'm going out after Charles," he says. "Make him fight—that's my best chance."

Do his plans go farther than the Charles fight?

Louis said:

"Well, I can't say for sure now But if things go the way I expect them to, I'd like to fight again this year. One thing's sure—there'll be no more exhibitions."

What about his position with the International Boxing Club, now that he's back to fighting?

Said Louis:

Resigns As I B C Director

"I resigned from my post as boxing director of the IBC, and I'm strictly a fighter. I may return to the organization again when I figure I can't fight any more.

"But right now I'm thinking of only one thing—winning back that title. There is more than one reason for my going after it. As you know, there are some back taxes, and just as important, I want to prove to the fight public that I can win that title back again.

"It's never been done before but that doesn't worry me. I'll win it!"

You could just feel the finality in Louis' prediction.

Cleveland Browns Top Lions, 35-14

AKRON, O., Aug. 25—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns beat the Detroit Lions, 35 to 14, tonight before 23,607 fans at the Akron Rubber Bowl for their third straight victory of the exhibition football season.

Otto Graham's passes and Marion Motley's runs were big factors in the Browns' scoring. Graham tossed two touchdown heaves to Red Baumgardner and bulled over himself from the two after his aerials had opened the way for a third score.

Motley ran 41 yards for a fourth touchdown, and carried 33 yards in another drive as Baumgardner went eight for the six points.

The Lions scored twice in the final period on short plunges by Dan Sandifer and John Panelli to escape a shutout.

Frank Stranahan To Play Urzetta In Amateur Final

Ward And Knowles Lose In Tourney

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 25 (AP)—Sam Urzetta, the job hunting collegian from Rochester, N. Y., and Frank Stranahan, the unemployed millionaire from Toledo, will play tomorrow for the National Amateur golf crown.

Stranahan played hot and cold golf today to eliminate John Ward of Clay, N. Y., 1 up, while Urzetta was as steady as a rock in sending Robert Knowles of Brookline, Mass., to the sidelines, 6 and 5.

Surprisingly, it was Stranahan, the British Amateur Champion and the prohibitive favorite here, who had to hustle for his victory in the 36-hole semi-finals over the 6,655 yards and the 108 traps that make up the Minneapolis Golf Club course.

The Ohioan pushed two shots out of bounds on the third hole of the morning round and never got ahead of the gum-chewing lawyer from Syracuse until the eighth hole of the afternoon.

Urzetta, on the other hand, lost the first hole by sending his second host over the green. He took the second to pull even with the great grandson of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and then steadily moved ahead.

The day's golf included everything. Stranahan put two out of bounds on one hole; Ward hooked so sharply off one tee his drive struck a spectator in the leg; Knowles needed so many strokes to get on the green of the fourteenth he conceded the hole without putting; Urzetta lost a hole when his putter accidentally touched his ball while he was surveying a stymie.

Illinois Gunner Wins $8,000 Prize At Vandalia Traps

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 25. (AP)—Oscar Scheske, Jr., 48-year-old trapshooting unknown from Belleville, Ill., came from nowhere in the closing minutes today to win the clay targets' biggest prize, the Grand American Handicap.

Scheske, a real estate broker who has been shooting clay targets only two years, picked up approximately $8,000 for his victory over a field of 1,737 of the country's greatest marksmen.

He was in the 329th squad of the 348 five-man combinations which faced the traps in the 100-target feature of the 51st Grand American trapshoot and his perfect score—sixth in the history of the classic—erased the hopes of seven others who had tied at 99 of 100.

The biggest shoot-off in the Roaring Grand's history was in prospect until Scheske came up with his 100 straight.

Sugar Robinson Flattens Basora In 52 Seconds

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 25 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson knocked out Jose Basora tonight in less than a minute to defend successfully his middleweight championship, Pennsylvania version.

It was one of the fastest knockouts in championship history. Referee Johnny Kelly counted the Puerto Rican contender out in 52 seconds.

Basora was knocked down four times in the fast and furious action.

The Harlem Sugar weighed in at 159¾, Basora at 154¾.

Ken McGregor Blasts Veteran Ted Schroeder

Sedgman Conquers Brown, Trophy May Change Hands Today

By GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 25 (AP)—Black disaster struck America's tennis forces today when two brilliant Australian youngsters beat the daylights out of the best this country could summon and virtually clinched the Davis Cup before the challenge round had well begun.

Ken McGregor, a 20 - year - old wizard from down under, pulled one of the great upsets of cup history by blasting the veteran Ted Schroeder off the courts, 13-11, 6-3, 6-4.

8,000 Witness Rout

His 22-year-old teammate, Frank Sedgman, banged across another straight set victory over Tom Brown, Jr., 6-0, 8-6, 9-7, before 8,000 unbelieving spectators in the big horseshoe stadium.

When the last shot had been fired on Black Friday, the cup defenders were left with little or no hope of retaining the trophy they have held since they brought it back from Australia in 1946.

All the wildly celebrating Aussies will need do is capture tomorrow's doubles match to make it official, and they were more or less conceded a triumph in the tandem event before the matches started.

If the huge, gleaming cup goes back to the other side of the world this time, it probably will remain there a long time, for the Aussies unveiled today a pair of all-court players with tremendous services who will be hard to take in the foreseeable future.

McGregor, only two years removed from the ranks of the ball boys and playing in his first challenge round, had the experts exclaiming with his masterful performance against the 29-year-old Schroeder of La Crescenta, Calif., who never before had met his match in Davis Cup singles.

Ted Meets Master

Today Ted not only met his match, but his master in a 190-pound six-foot-three athlete who covered court like the dew and exhibited one of the biggest services seen in years. Schroeder, though playing near his best, succeeded in breaking McGregor's serve only once, and that at the very outset.

From there on, McGregor toed the service line 20 straight times and either rifled bullets past Schroeder or smashed errors off the American's racquet. He never yielded his delivery again, and it was only a matter of time until the tiring Ted could hold his own service no longer against the towering youngster who rushed the net at every opportunity.

Sedgman was expected to defeat Brown unless the San Francisco barrister struck one of the unbeatable streaks of tennis for which he was noted three or four years ago. Tom didn't and after he dropped the opening set at Love, there was never much question of the outcome.

Face National Champs

Sedgman wasn't as impressive as his teammate was to prove later, but he was adequate for the job at hand.

Both captains said they would stick with their previously announced doubles teams in tomorrow's match, starting at 1:30 (EST), Schroeder and Gardnar Mulloy were down to tackle Sedgman and John Bromwich, who only last week won the national doubles title at Brookline, Mass.

Elkridge Scores 31st Victory In Saratoga 'Chase

12-Year-Old Jumper Has Won $223,055

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—Kent Miller's Elkridge had age running against him, but it did not matter much, for the gallant old jumper once again turned in a brilliant performance of sheer courage as he annexed the 43rd Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap today.

The durable iron horse, now 12, led all the way in this gruelling event of about 2½ miles over 16 jumps, finishing three lengths before F. Ambrose Clark's Lone Fisherman under topweight. Mrs. Golden Phipps' Oedipus was six more lengths away in third place, while Montpelier's odds-on entry of Hampton Roads and Sea Legs wound up fourth and fifth, respectively. Last to finish in the meeting's final important 'chase event was Happy Hill Farm's Adaptable, outran badly from end to end. The time for the race was 508 2-5.

For Elkridge it was his 112th start and his 31st victory. The popular fencer, whose effort thrilled the majority in the crowd of 12,255, just one less than last year, earned $7,975, increasing his all time mark to $223,055. He is the world's greatest money-winning 'chaser. Elkridge was winning this stake for the second time having scored in 1944 under 155 pounds.

NEW COACH TAKES CHARGE—Ralph Wilbur Poling, newly appointed football coach of Ridgeley High School, took charge of the Blackhawks' squad which opened its training grind Thursday on the school field. Poling hails from Philippi, W. Va., is a graduate of Morris Harvey College, Charleston, W. Va., and coached Hillsville (Va.) High School for the past two years. Poling is shown on the left (kneeling). He is pictured with three regulars holding over from last season's squad. They are, left to right, William Phillips, quarterback, and Albert Decker, end and tackle (standing) and Earl Long, first string center, kneeling on right. Ridgeley opens its 7-game schedule on September 29. The Hawks will play home games with Romney High and Beall and meet Allegany, Keyser, Moorefield, Fort Hill and LaSalle away from home.

September Scores

SALEM, N .H., Aug. 25 (AP)—Held in check until the head of the stretch W. J. Lenihan's September breezed to a seven length victory in today's featured Tiny Griffin Memorial Purse at Rockingham Park.

Ground Fog, second choice of the 6,381 spectators, was second in the mile and sixteenth journey with Coming On third and Crown Me, the heavily played favorite, a distant fourth.

September covered the course in the fast time of 1.43 4-5, only three fifths of a second off the track record which Advising Anna set 16 years ago.

Lotus Blossom Wins

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 25 (AP)—Mrs. Samuel M. Pistorio's Lotus Blossom accounted for the featured Egg Harbor Purse today when she circled her rivals in the stretch to win the mile and a sixteenth test by little more than a length.

Bobanet Stable's Attention Mark made it doubly secure for the favorite players when he nosed Larry S. MacPhail's Invariant out of the place award.

Lotus Blossom and Attention Mark were coupled as an entry, both being trained by J. Bowes Bond. The payoff on the entry was $3.60, $3.20 and $2.60. Invariant returned $3.20. Favorite players in the crowd of 12,067 were having a gala day with Lotus Blossom making the fifth choice to get home in the first six events.

Elkridge Scores 31st Victory In Saratoga 'Chase

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 25 (AP)—Kent Miller's Elkridge had age running against him, but it did not matter much, for the gallant old jumper once again turned in a brilliant performance of sheer courage as he annexed the 43rd Saratoga Steeplechase Handicap today.

The durable iron horse, now 12, led all the way in this gruelling event of about 2½ miles over 16 jumps, finishing three lengths before F. Ambrose Clark's Lone Fisherman under topweight. Mrs. Golden Phipps' Oedipus was six more lengths away in third place, while Montpelier's odds-on entry of Hampton Roads and Sea Legs wound up fourth and fifth, respectively. Last to finish in the meeting's final important 'chase event was Happy Hill Farm's Adaptable, outran badly from end to end. The time for the race was 508 2-5.

For Elkridge it was his 112th start and his 31st victory. The popular fencer, whose effort thrilled the majority in the crowd of 12,255, just one less than last year, earned $7,975, increasing his all time mark to $223,055. He is the world's greatest money-winning 'chaser. Elkridge was winning this stake for the second time having scored in 1944 under 155 pounds.

NEW COACH TAKES CHARGE—Ralph Wilbur Poling, newly appointed football coach of Ridgeley High School, took charge of the Blackhawks' squad which opened its training grind Thursday on the school field. Poling hails from Philippi, W. Va., is a graduate of Morris Harvey College, Charleston, W. Va., and coached Hillsville (Va.) High School for the past two years. Poling is shown on the left (kneeling). He is pictured with three regulars holding over from last season's squad. They are, left to right, William Phillips, quarterback, and Albert Decker, end and tackle (standing) and Earl Long, first string center, kneeling on right. Ridgeley opens its 7-game schedule on September 29. The Hawks will play home games with Romney High and Beall and meet Allegany, Keyser, Moorefield, Fort Hill and LaSalle away from home.

September Scores

SALEM, N. H., Aug. 25 (AP)—Held in check until the head of the stretch W. J. Lenihan's September breezed to a seven length victory in today's featured Tiny Griffin Memorial Purse at Rockingham Park.

Ground Fog, second choice of the 6,381 spectators, was second in the mile and sixteenth journey with Coming On third and Crown Me, the heavily played favorite, a distant fourth.

September covered the course in the fast time of 1.43 4-5, only three fifths of a second off the track record which Advising Anna set 16 years ago.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25. (INS)—When Peggy Cummins returns to London to marry Derek Dunnet in October, she will make a movie while on her honeymoon. Arnold Black is starring her in "My Lady From Kansas," about an American girl who marries a nobleman.

Never think for a minute that English Peggy can't play an American girl from Kansas or any place else. She out-gangstered the gangsters' molls playing the girl friend of a racketeer in "Gun Crazy," remember?

Some time, some day this little Cummins girl is going to click big. She is really a good actress—but the right cards aren't coming up for her—yet.

* * *

Martha Vickers is out of "Bandit Queen" after all—but not because Mickey Rooney put his foot down. Her doctor thinks she is not sufficiently recovered from having the baby to take on such a strenuous western. The girl weighs only 98 pounds.

Barbara Britton takes over Martha's role in this Lippert production.

Congratulations to Joseph Schenck and Harry Cohn on the dignified and sensible way they handled the dispute over releasing "Pick Up." Hugo Haas' $80,000 "sleeper" might have developed into a battle between 20th and Columbia had not Schenck recognized Columbia's prior claim when all the facts were put before him.

Now that the tracks are cleared, Columbia is signing Beverly Michaels on a term deal. Her performance of the lady whose moral standards are none too high is of Oscar caliber—so they say.

* * *

The Lauritz Melchiors—she bedecked in orchids—were at the Russell Havenstries' full of their vacation in Hawaii where they report "the hunting more exciting than in Africa."

The Havenstries' delightful cocktail party was in honor of the new singing team, the Alexander Brothers. If the baritone freres weren't singing nervous before their first Hollywood audience—they will never be. In addition to Melchior, John Charles Thomas was on hand. Hotel Man Conrad Hilton brought Anne Crawford, the pretty English star. Gail Patrick looked lovely on the arm of her fella, Corny Jackson.

Lois Wilson said she is leaving for New York September 1 for her television show. The Jean Hersholts are others heading east for Chicago where Jean will speak at a national fraternity dinner. Also saw the Joe Pasternaks, Henry Ginsbergs and the Rouben Mamoulians in the cocktail crowd.

* * *

Richard Greene has raised outside moola, and some of his own, to make "Deadly Nevergreen" independently. The English leading man has long had his heart set on this story based on the exploits of the 17th century Col. Thomas Blood—the only man ever to steal the crown jewels from the Tower of London.

The title, by the way, is thieves' slang for Tyburn Gallows—infamous old spot where they used to hang lawbreakers.

* * *

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Cecile Aubry, the French cutie, is headed back to France without a 20th contract. Deal blew up when her agent asked too many extra concessions.

Julie Wilson is showing San Francisco friends the gold lighter given her by the Sultan of Johore when she was in London. Julie opened big in the Peacock Court of the Mark Hopkins Hotel with Janet Blair, Dorothy McGuire, Michele Farmer (Gloria Swanson's daughter) and Dr. Margaret Chung among the first nighters.

Their first night back in Hollywood the Jack Bennys went to hear Jane Froman at the Mocambo and brought along Gracie Allen and George Burns. Benay Venuta and Fred Clark were also listening to the thrilling lady of song.

Ida Lupino and Howard Duff relaxing to the music of Ben Pollack and his Dixielanders at the Beverly Cavern.

That 20-foot speed boat the Andrews sisters bought during their Lake Tahoe stint was just an initial expense. The girls are so crazy about it, they've now bought a house at Balboa with a private pier to park it.

That's all today. See you Monday!

Don't let the beauty of your hair be dimmed under summer blight! Follow these sure steps to restore normal sheen!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

YOU might just as well stop ruing the toll summer has taken in hair beauty. Only a month of serious reconditioning can counteract the havoc, sun, wind, heat, salt water or chlorine can cause in just a few unguarded days!

If you are planning an early fall permanent this restoring period is absolutely essential before you subject your hair to any kind of wave. Badly abused hair does not take kindly to even the most expertly given permanent.

Three Steps

But four weeks of the following three reconditioning treatments will bring the natural beauty back to your hair and give your new permanent a chance to do what you want it to:

1. Every morning apply a protective dressing to your hair. There are many good ones available in creamy, fluid or pomade form. This is a MUST — rain or shine!

2. If you have blonde hair, use a tablespoon of lemon juice in a cup of cool water as a final rinse after your weekly shampoo. The lemon juice, contrary to common belief, is not drying, but will improve the elasticity of your hair. It will also help restore an even color to sun-streaked or faded hair.

If you are a brunette or Titian, a tablespoon of vinegar to a cup of cool water is your best rinse.

As an extra precaution, carry a small bottle of your rinse with you when you go swimming to use after your shower. It will leave your hair manageable and glistening instead of dark and stringy.

3. On the night before you shampoo, massabe a small quantity of warm olive oil into your scalp. Follow this with a good brushing to distribute the oil evenly through your hair. Then confine your hair in a heavy, open-mesh net so that the oil can work on your hair and not on your pillow.

And here's a valuable tip for a permanent that looks better right from the start: Have your hair cut both before and after your permanent. The pre-cut is for shaping and shortening; the after-cut is to banish frizzy ends and the disappointment that accompanies them.

Even the most beautiful features need the frame of lustrous, healthy hair. If your locks are suffering from summer blight, get busy today to restore their normal and natural sheen!

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25. (INS)—When Peggy Cummins returns to London to marry Derek Dunnet in October, she will make a movie while on her honeymoon. Arnold Black is starring her in "My Lady From Kansas," about an American girl who marries a nobleman.

Never think for a minute that English Peggy can't play an American girl from Kansas or any place else. She out-ganstered the gansters' molls playing the girl friend of a racketeer in "Gun Crazy," remember?

* * *

Martha Vickers is out of "Bandit Queen" after all—but not because Mickey Rooney put his foot down. Her doctor thinks she is not sufficiently recovered from having the baby to take on such a strenuous western. The girl weighs only 98 pounds.

Barbara Britton takes over Martha's role in this Lippert production.

Congratulations to Joseph Schenck and Harry Cohn on the dignified and sensible way they handled the dispute over releasing "Pick Up." Hugo Haas' $80,000 "sleeper" might have developed into a battle between 20th and Columbia had not Schenck recognized Columbia's prior claim when all the facts were put before him.

Now that the tracks are cleared, Columbia is signing Beverly Michaels on a term deal. Her performance of the lady whose moral standards are none too high is of Oscar caliber—so they say.

* * *

The Lauritz Melchiors—she bedecked in orchids—were at the Russell Havenstries' full of their vacation in Hawaii where they report "the hunting more exciting than in Africa."

The Havenstries' delightful cocktail party was in honor of the new singing team, the Alexander Brothers. If the baritone freres weren't singing nervous before their first Hollywood audience—they will never be. In addition to Melchior, John Charles Thomas was on hand. Hotel Man Conrad Hilton brought Anne Crawford, the pretty English star. Gail Patrick looked lovely on the arm of her fella, Corny Jackson.

Lois Wilson said she is leaving for New York September 1 for her television show. The Jean Hersholts are others heading east for Chicago where Jean will speak at a national fraternity dinner. Also saw the Joe Pasternaks, Henry Ginsbergs and the Rouben Mamoulians in the cocktail crowd.

* * *

Richard Greene has raised outside moola, and some of his own, to make "Deadly Nevergreen" independently. The English leading man has long had his heart set on this story based on the exploits of the 17th century Col. Thomas Blood—the only man ever to steal the crown jewels from the Tower of London.

By BOB CONSIDINE

EDITOR'S NOT This is the first of two articles o Emperor Hirohito, 49-year-old symb of a Japanese people who in fi short years have changed from s ective feudalism to the role of a fo ost democratic foce in Asia.

TOKYO, (INS)—

Exactly fiv ears after he made the mo tous decision that would intolerable further to oppo an enemy that was prepared to in down upon the Japanese ids a fantastic new weapon cal the atomic bomb, Emperor ohito finds himself happier th he has been in 25 years.

That is e solemn opinion expressed to e today by Yasumasa Matsudair grand master of the ceremonie of the imperial household. Madaira is a neat, intelligent Jap se, given to light gabardine s, brown polka dot bow ties and lively interest in all things erican.

Visited England

As udaira explains it, the last tin happiness encloaked the quiet, lious, bespectacled Emperor in the midle 1920 when he enjd for a time a slight surcease m the pressures which speciali groups have been putting on Jaese emperors since the roots listory.

Hiro at that time had just returnto Japan from a visit to Englanwhere he had sat down with K George V at a few private meals id listened—with awe—to the Brh monarch's explanation of a consitional monarchy.

Hirco returned filled with a hope that he could effect such changes in Japan, but he was unable to stem the rising tide of fierce nationalism which eventually led to Pearl Harbor.

He could not buck the tide, Matsudaira remarked sadly, when one of the rambunctious "young officers" openly criticized Hirohito for playing golf and tennis because these favorite games of his were western sports.

The news got to Hirohito and he gave up the sports, even though, as Matsudaira carefuly pointed out, the young officer in question must have been drunk when he said it.

The trip to England produced another important change in Hirohito, Matsudaira told me. It made him uncomfortable in his role of deity.

Several years ago when the Emperor renounced the ancient claims he said to his friend Matsudaira:

"It is a relief to give up the god status. I never really felt more than just a man. The people made me a god. That is the truth."

Content With Position

Hirohito is content with his condensed authority under General MacArthur, his devoted master of ceremonies said, for it gives him more time to spend with his beloved tracts of biology—the ruling study of his life.

His rule today extends mainly to the placing of his seal on laws passed by the Diet. But he has no veto power. The laws would still be laws without his stamp.

Hirohito's power is described only as the "power of attestation" but he remains a well loved figure to the Japanese people and they are proud of the way in which he has adjusted himself to the American rule.

"The Emperor is more beloved than ever," Matsudaira said with obvious sincerity, "for now we see him at our fairs and exhibitions in a way that was once impossible."

The Emperor sees few Americans.

Twice each year he pays a formal call on General MacArthur, but the General does not return the call. But the General is very fond of the Emperor and grateful to him for his whole-hearted cooperation.

The Emperor, by the same token, is grateful to the General for the manner on which he has conducted the occupation.

The Emperor has also made it plain to various American missionary groups that have called upon him that he will never forget the Christian work that has been spread among his people, though he himself remains and will continue to remain a practitioner of Shintoism.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles on Emperor Hirohito, 49-year-old symbol of a Japanese people who in the short years have changed from effective feudalism to the role of a foremost democratic force in Asia.

TOKYO, (INS)—Exactly five years after he made the momentous decision that would lead intolerable further to oppose an enemy that was prepared to rain down upon the Japanese islands a fantastic new weapon called the atomic bomb, Emperor Hirohito finds himself happier than he has been in 25 years.

That is the solemn opinion expressed today by Yasumasa Matsudaira, grand master of the ceremonies of the imperial household. Matsudaira is a neat, intelligent Japanese, given to light gabardines, brown polka dot bow ties and lively interest in all things American.

Visited England

As Matsudaira explains it, the last time happiness encloaked the quiet, glorious, bespectacled Emperor was in the midle 1920 when he enjoyed for a time a slight surcease from the pressures which special groups have been putting on Japanese emperors since the roots of history.

Hirohito at that time had just returned to Japan from a visit to England where he had sat down with King George V at a few private meals and listened—with awe—to the British monarch's explanation of a constitutional monarchy.

Hirohito returned filled with a hope that he could effect such changes in Japan, but he was unable to stem the rising tide of fierce nationalism which eventually led to Pearl Harbor.

He could not buck the tide, Matsudaira remarked sadly, when one of the rambunctious "young officers" openly criticized Hirohito for playing golf and tennis because these favorite games of his were western sports.

The news got to Hirohito and he gave up the sports, even though, as Matsudaira carefully pointed out, the young officer in question must have been drunk when he said it.

The trip to England produced another important change in Hirohito, Matsudaira told me. It made him uncomfortable in his role of deity.

Several years ago when the Emperor renounced the ancient claims he said to his friend Matsudaira:

"It is a relief to give up the god status. I never really felt more than just a man. The people made me a god. That is the truth."

Content With Position

Hirohito is content with his condensed authority under General MacArthur, his devoted master of ceremonies said, for it gives him more time to spend with his beloved tracts of biology—the ruling study of his life.

His rule today extends mainly to the placing of his seal on laws passed by the Diet. But he has no veto power. The laws would still be laws without his stamp.

Hirohito's power is described only as the "power of attestation" but he remains a well loved figure to the Japanese people and they are proud of the way in which he has adjusted himself to the American rule.

"The Emperor is more beloved than ever," Matsudaira said with obvious sincerity, "for now we see him at our fairs and exhibitions in a way that was once impossible."

The Emperor sees few Americans. Twice each year he pays a formal call on General MacArthur, but the General does not return the call. But the General is very fond of the Emperor and grateful to him for his whole-hearted cooperation.

The Emperor, by the same token, is grateful to the General for the manner on which he has conducted the occupation.

The Emperor has also made it plain to various American missionary groups that have called upon him that he will never forget the Christian work that has been spread among his people, though he himself remains and will continue to remain a practitioner of Shintoism.

War Increases Paper Demand

Wastepaper, which has been little in demand for the past year or so, is becoming more and more popular on the market since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, according to Emmett A. Dougherty, local collector.

The price is expected to rise in the near future, he added. At present, brokers are paying $5 per ton for mixed paper, $7 for newspapers and $9 for corrugated paper.

Dougherty said he has been picking up paper once a week recently just to keep it out of garbage collections. Dougherty has the contract for collecting city garbage.

Wastepaper will be collected Monday in the area south of Oldtown Road. Bundles of wastepaper should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.

Market Clipped For Largest Overall Loss In Six Weeks

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—The stock market was clipped for the largest overall loss in six weeks today.

At the closing bell a heavy majority of issues showed losses of a few cents to around $2 a share.

All of the damage was done during the morning when buyers could be tempted only by sharp markdowns. For a while trading hit a fast tempo.

Turnover amounted to only 1,600,000 shares despite sales in the first hour alone of 510,000 shares. Volume Thursday totaled 1,620,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped a full point to 78.4. Industrials, rails and utilities joined in the slide.

Today's drop interrupted a rally that has been rolling for five weeks straight. The AP 60-stock ended at 78.4, compared with 79.1 a week ago.

Brokers had a number of reasons to explain today's setback. Added up, the reasons indicated that traders had a lot of unknowns in the background and preferred not to go through the weekend in a vulnerable position.

The market once more had a comfortable background of favorable business news, which helped some stocks directly affected.

Sharon Steel, for instance, was the second most active issue with a rise of 3⅛ to 44½. Vigorous demand followed announcement of a 50 per cent stock dividend in addition to the usual cash payment.

U. S. Steel, the most active issue, backed down from around its 1950 high with a loss of ¾ at 38. Bethlehem at 42 and Republic Steel at 38 were off fractions. Follansbee Steel, on the other hand, gained a fraction at 18 and Climax Molybdenum jumped 1⅜ to 22⅞.

velt. If he should try to defend them, he would impair his confidence in himself and the confidence of the country in him. Better for him and for the country than any other possible course initiated by him would be welcome of the Republican tender of co-operation on a course in which the Republicans have equal responsibility. This would save the country from a political campaign incitive of anger and dangerous to unity.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

A TRY TO GAIN A TRICK

MOST players think of a finesse as an effort to capture some card held by the other side. In many cases that is not the purpose at all. Sometimes a fairly low card is finessed in the hope that it will force a very high one from the last player, thereby building a trick for you with some medium-sized card. On other occasions, it is simply an effort to take one more trick than otherwise is in sight, regardless of whether or not it captures a hostile card.

	♠ K J 10 9 ♥ 9 8 3 2 ♦ 8 5 ♣ 9 8 4
♠ Q 4 3 ♥ Q J 5 4 ♦ J 6 4 ♣ J 7 2	N W E S	♠ A 2 ♥ A K 7 6 ♦ A 7 3 2 ♣ A Q 6
	♠ 8 7 6 5 ♥ 10 ♦ K Q 10 9 ♣ K 10 5 3

(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

As the initial disasters in Korea showed, there is a terrific advantage to the side which strikes before the opponents are ready. That is what was done by the declarer on this deal. South led his diamond K, which East took with the A, thereby establishing the J as a sure second trick in the suit. Nine tricks were now in sight, with one in spades, four in hearts, two in diamonds and two in clubs.

But the timing was important. If, reckoned East, he went to dummy with a heart entry and happened to lose the club finesse, a spade return might establish a trick for North, causing the trapping of dummy's Q. Since the lead would have to be lost a second time through the diamond play, the defenders would be in again to cash the setting tricks in spades.

But East did not make the hum-drum play. Instead he led the club 6 toward the J. South, not prepared to figure out the danger of that, played low and the J won. East came to his hand with a heart then and led the diamond 2. That of course ended all of his worries so that, after South won with the Q, any return of his could be followed by running directly all the tricks that East needed.

Your Weekend Question

Do you understand the principle of the rare play known to veteran cardsmen as the "underruff"? Can you give an example of its use, by either the declarer or a defender?

Market Clipped For Largest Overall Loss In Six Weeks

NEW YORK, Aug. 25 (AP)—The stock market was clipped for the largest overall loss in six weeks today.

At the closing bell a heavy majority of issues showed losses of a few cents to around $2 a share.

All of the damage was done during the morning when buyers could be tempted only by sharp markdowns. For a while trading hit a fast tempo.

Turnover amounted to only 1,600,000 shares despite sales in the first hour alone of 510,000 shares. Volume Thursday totaled 1,620,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped a full point to 78.4. Industrials, rails and utilities joined in the slide.

Today's drop interrupted a rally that has been rolling for five weeks straight. The AP 60-stock ended at 78.4, compared with 79.1 a week ago.

Brokers had a number of reasons to explain today's setback. Added up, the reasons indicated that traders had a lot of unknowns in the background and preferred not to go through the weekend in a vulnerable position.

The market once more had a comfortable background of favorable business news, which helped some stocks directly affected.

Sharon Steel, for instance, was the second most active issue with a rise of 3⅛ to 44½. Vigorous demand followed announcement of a 50 per cent stock dividend in addition to the usual cash payment.

U. S. Steel, the most active issue, backed down from around its 1950 high with a loss of ¾ at 38. Bethlehem at 42 and Republic Steel at 38 were off fractions. Follansbee Steel, on the other hand, gained a fraction at 18 and Climax Molybdenum jumped 1⅜ to 22⅞.

War Increases Paper Demand

Wastepaper, which has been little in demand for the past year or so, is becoming more and more popular on the market since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea, according to Emmett A. Dougherty, local collector.

The price is expected to rise in the near future, he added. At present, brokers are paying $5 per ton for mixed paper, $7 for newspapers and $9 for corrugated paper.

Dougherty said he has been picking up paper once a week recently just to keep it out of garbage collections. Dougherty has the contract for collecting city garbage.

Wastepaper will be collected Monday in the area south of Oldtown Road. Bundles of wastepaper should be placed on curbs before 9 a. m.

Better for him and for the country than any other possible course initiated by him would be welcome of the Republican tender of co-operation on a course in which the Republicans have equal responsibility. This would save the country from a political campaign incitive of anger and dangerous to unity.

The object and purpose of this suit is to obtain a decree in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, appointing a Trustee to sell certain mineral rights underlying certain lands lying near Mount Savage, Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill recites that the above named complainants and respondents are adults and the owners as tenants in common of certain valuable coal and mineral rights underlying certain lands originally owned by Joseph A. Trimble, deceased, containing in the aggregate approximately 686 acres situate and lying near Mount Savage in Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same mineral rights which were conveyed to Maude M. Trimble by De-Warren H. Reynolds, et al., Trustees, by deed dated October 28, 1902, and recorded in Liber 91, folio 416, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland.

Rains Drench Parts Of Area, Ignore Others

Debris Obstructs Mt. Savage Road

Thunder storms played Will-o-the-Wisp on the Cumberland area map last night, obstructing roads and flooding buildings in some sections and completely passing over others.

Most of the showers occurred in the western area at about 8:30 p. m., although some were reported as early as 4:15.

State Roads Commission workmen were out last night clearing about one-tenth of a mile of the Mt. Savage Road two miles east of town at Gaither's Quarry which seemed to have the worst affects from the 8:30 downpour.

SRC employes said rocks and dirt covered the road, obstructing traffic for a short time. However, workmen removed the worst of the boulders and put warning lights in the area shortly after the rain ended, making the road passable.

Late last night, three SRC workers were clearing the remaining debris.

Corriganville residents reported between eight and ten inches of water on the Ellerslie road during the 15 to 20-minute 8:30 rain. Traffic was halted temporarily there, too.

Six or eight inches of water ran into the Corriganville Fire Hall basement where the equipment is kept, but no damage was reported.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of LaVale Fire Department found their meeting interrupted for awhile at 8:30, when water ran into their meeting room in the fire hall.

Residents of the West Side in Cumberland saw small rivers running down the streets during the late rain, but no damage was reported.

At about 4:15 p. m., Cumberland Fair spectators were driven home by a 45-minute downpour. A nearby resident said the rain stopped about 200 yards south of Fairgo Tavern near the fairgrounds. The sun was even shining, he added.

A heavy rain hit Mt. Savage at about 5:30 p. m., but no floods were reported in that area.

A baseball game was rained out in Wellersburg, Pa., during the first inning at about 6 p. m. However, games in LaVale and Triple Lakes went off on schedule.

There were only slight traces of rain in downtown Cumberland, Constitution Park or Ridgeley, and no rain reported east of the city.

No Fatal Accidents In County In July

Although Allegany County had no fatal accidents during July, it witnessed 21 accidents involving personal injury, according to the Maryland State Police Statistical Bureau.

Five accidents, all during the day, caused property damages, and one night accident was recorded causing injuries to pedestrians.

The Bureau also relates that Allegany County had 191 arrests, 231 warnings, 186 convictions, and only 13 dismissals.

Cumberland came up with a record of no fatal accidents, none resulting in personal injury, 2 daylight accidents causing property damage, and no pedestrians killed or injured. There were 9 arrests and 10 convictions in the city during the month.

Garrett County, like Allegany, had no fatal accidents, but had 15 resulting in personal injury, and 4 daylight and 2 night mishaps causing property damage. One daylight accident involved injuries to pedestrians.

Garrett had 96 arrests, 133 warnings, and 98 convictions as a result of violations, with only two dismissals.

The Weather

Yesterday was a rather confusing day. From the surprise of an 88-degree maximum temperature, half of Cumberland turned to the not quite as pleasant surprise of a thunder storm. The other half saw no rain and contented themselves with being a little too warm. The 62-degree Constitution Park and 66-degree downtown minimums were reasonably normal, but that was before daybreak. The late night reading was 71 degrees. Today should be cloudy and humid and there is a possibility of scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Offer To Buy Lots Rejected

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday refused the offer of John E. Powers, Cumberland, to purchase 13 lots owned by the county on Holland Street.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, explained that the lots were part of county farm land which was sub-divided under terms of a bill passed by the Legislature for sale to veterans of World Wars I and II.

Former soldiers were to be allowed to purchase the lots on the basis of "first come, first served."

But after two months, all unsold lots were to be offered at public sale, with the provision that only one lot be sold to any one person.

Four Are Hurt As Car Skids On Wet Highway

Driver Of Ohio Car Seriously Injured

An Ohio-licensed automobile skidded across rain-soaked Route 40 four miles west of Grantsville yesterday and crashed sideways against another car, injuring four persons, one seriously.

At Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where the victims were admitted, attaches listed them as Ernest M. Farr, Jr., 30, seriously injured, his wife, Helen, 27, both of Akron, Ohio; George D. Edwards, 52, and his wife, Iva, 49, both of Grantsville.

Police said Farr was removed from his car in an unconscious condition after he swerved back and forth across the highway and finally crashed against Edwards' machine.

Hospital attaches said the other three victims were painfully injured but listed their condition as good. All suffered lacerations and bruises.

State Trooper Glen Folk said Farr was headed east on the highway and apparently topped a rise in the hill just after it began raining "making the road very slippery." A rain storm followed later.

Police quoted Edwards as saying he saw the car swerving from side to side on the road. Edwards said he slowed his car to between a 15 to 20 mile an hour speed.

Edwards was descending a small grade, police said, and as his car reached the bottom, the Farr car turned sideways and crashed against the front of his vehicle.

Police said an unidentified nurse traveling in a car bearing Pennsylvania license stopped and gave first aid to all four of the injured persons and then accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Farr to the hospital in an ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards were taken to the hospital by unidentified motorists. All four persons had to be removed from the twisted wreckage of the two automobiles, police said.

Trooper Folk listed damage to the two cars at between $1,500 and $2,000. The Farr car was the worst damaged, he said.

Investigation of the accident will be continued. Farr remained unconscious last night and could not be questioned, police said.

Playground Unit Plans Addition

The East Side Playground Association is building a new 36 feet by 30 feet addition to the playground shelter, R. J. Taylor, chairman, said last night.

The one-story concrete block addition will be built next to the present two-story 15 feet by 30 feet structure, Taylor stated.

Some preliminary digging has been done. The structure will be built with volunteer labor. Taylor estimated the cost at about $600.

The committee will hold a festival Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 p. m., Taylor said. Proceeds will go toward the addition and playground equipment.

There will be refreshments, contests, entertainment and games. A square dance will be held both nights from 8:30 to 10:30.

Two Diseases Cause Most Deaths In May

More deaths were caused by cerebral hemorrhage and disease of the heart in Allegany County, Garrett County, and the City of Cumberland during the month of May, than by any other diseases, according to the State Department of Health.

Out of 75 deaths in Allegany County, 33 were caused by diseases of the heart and 10 by cerebral hemorrhage. Cancer ranked next, causing 3 deaths.

A similar ratio exists for Cumberland, where heart diseases claimed 17 subjects, cerebral hemorrhage, 5, out of a total number of 34 deaths. Two deaths resulted from nephritis.

In Garrett County, 3 deaths were the result of heart diseases, 2 from cerebral hemorrhage, and 1 from nephritis.

The State Department of Health reported a total of 32 cases of notifiable diseases for Allegany County during May.

Pointing Out Improvements

State Roads officials stopped briefly yesterday at Keyser Ridge, Garrett County, to inspect a major road improvement on U. S. Route 40, one of 15 projects either completed or under construction in Allegany and Garrett County under a $200,000,000 improvement program. Thomas L. Linthicum, construction engineer (second from left), points to the beginning of the 3.5 miles of relocation work as other members look on. The road to the rear of the group is a continuation of the project and can be seen merging with a concrete strip at the Pennsylvania State Line. In the picture (left to right) are John Knepp, chief inspector on the project; Linthicum, S. D. Kuhn, acting construction engineer for District 6; Robert E. L. Putman, maintenance engineer for District 6; H. E. Rook, state resident engineer in Garrett County; G. Bates Chaires, District No. 6 Engineer; George B. Hale, state resident engineer in Allegany County; Russell H. McCain, Republican member of the Maryland State Roads Commission, and Clinton Johnson, public relations director for the commission.

Potomac Council Camporee To Be Held Sept. 16-17

Up To 500 Scouts Slated To Attend

Willis V. Smith, Scout executive, said the overnight event will open at Camp Potomac, near Oldtown, Saturday, September 16, at 2 p. m. and close the following day at 2 p. m.

Up to 500 scouts from troops in Potomac Council are expected to attend the annual event.

The Camporee will be chiefly a demonstration of camping skills by troops and patrols, which will be required to furnish all equipment used during the overnight stay.

Only firewood and water will be available at camp. Food will be prepared by members of the units.

A "model camp" will be set up by a group of experienced Scouters and may be used as a guide by patrols in erecting camps.

Scouters will rate all patrols as excellent, good and fair and ribbon awards will be made.

Smith said a combined campfire will be held Saturday night with all troops and patrols invited to present a campfire stunt or skit.

The chief value of the Camporee, he added, is to allow Scouts to learn by seeing how other units perform their camping tasks.

Earl S. Black, field executive, will be in general charge of the camp. All troops will be under the charge of their scoutmasters and all activities, except the campfire, will be at the troop and patrol level.

Arrangements for the visit were made at the request of local businessmen who attended a conference on the subject in Baltimore recently.

A number of firms o fthis area, including operators of machine shops, woodworking shops, and manufacturers of precision tools and plastics have shown considerable interest in the program.

Smith explained that some of the firms which might not be equipped to bid on a prime contract are admirably suited for sub-contracting.

Navy Wants 70,000 Seabee Reserves

Some 70,000 vacancies exist in the CB Naval Reserve program, recruiters said.

Needed are direct enlistment or reenlistment in Group VIII ratings and pay grades equivalent to skill and experience in the construction trades.

Officials said the need of filling the CB reserve quotas is evident in view of the critical international situation.

Since World War II ended, the Navy's construction battalion program has been kept in operation by two skeleton battalions, one on the West and the other on the East coast.

Red Cross Will Aid In Contacts With Servicemen

Health And Welfare Reports To Be Made

The Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross yesterday urged families of servicemen in the Korean War zone to keep in touch with officials of the Cumberland office.

Mrs. W. Lee Witherup, executive secretary, said delays will be avoided in contacting families if needed information is on file at the chapter office.

She suggested that the chapter be informed of the serviceman's complete name, rank and serial number and any other pertinent information, together with the name, addres and telephone number of the serviceman's family.

If such details are available here, Mrs. Witherup said, the Red Cross can expedite information to the family or inquires concerning the men in the fighting zone.

The Red Cross, she added, will be glad to provide health and welfare reports to members of the immediate family if no word has been received by the next of kin for three months.

Mrs. Witherup said there has been a great deal of unavoidable delay in letters received from servicemen because of the rapid movement of troops.

She said the Red Cross is encouraging families of servicemen in the war zone to write by air mail to the last known address and not to expect a speedy reply.

Men in the combat zone, the Red Cross said, often do not have time to write letters regularly. Personal contacts by Red Cross field directors is also difficult in the war zone.

The Red Cross this week provided a progress report on the condition of Pfc. Virgil White, son of Mrs Zelda White, 13 Laing Avenue.

The field director reported his injuries as serious but said physicians advised the outcome was hopeful.

Mrs. Witherup said the Red Cross field directors have been making daily calls on injured servicemen to supplement regular reports made by the Armed Services.

Maryland Roads Show Results Of "Renaissance"

Western Area Has 15 Improvements

By JOHN P. MOODY
News Staff Writer

Maryland's highways, once the model of America's hard surface roads but in a state of disintegration since the mid-1920's, are bidding for motorists' praise again under a $200,000,000 building program.

The "Renaissance" of the Free State's traffic arteries got underway in 1947 and yesterday was able to present 15 improvements in Allegany and Garrett Counties for scrutiny of Maryland newsmen and women.

Many, in fact most, of the projects include huge relocation jobs that straightened out the highways as well as smoothing and widening them.

Even with these and numerous other projects either under construction or completed, State Roads Commission officials admit they lag behind demands of the 1950 automobile and its high speeds.

They are far removed, though, from the narrow winding roads that were built for vehicles with top speeds of 25 miles an hour and contained in use right through the 1940 decade.

Goal Over $400,000,000

Russell H. McCain, Republican member of the State Roads Commission, who accompanied the press tour over the 100-odd mile trip, said the ultimate goal based on present costs will cost the state between $400,000,000 and $600,000,000 more.

Two top prizes of the program to revamp Maryland traffic lanes in the western section of the state are the 4.6 miles of relocated and widened U. S. Route 40 between Allegany Grove and Frostburg, and the 3.5 miles of new highway at Keyser's Ridge in Garrett County.

Both projects, like many others, include three-lane traffic on all hill ascents with the third lane designed for slow moving vehicles. The Keyser Ridge job is pust now being completed.

Between visits to the 15 jobs aimed at making the State's highways "among the best," Clinton Johnson, public relations director for the commission, gave the press a briefing on highway history in Maryland.

According to Johnson, the State Roads Commission was born in 1908 and not long afterward Maryland had hard surface roads connecting the country seats from the Eastern Shore to Western Maryland's mountain region.

The turn-of-the-century arteries served as models for many other states caught in the race to replace its horse and buggy roads with thoroughfares for the new gasoline vehicle.

But Maryland's fast accomplishments and lack of foresight on the part of the builders are in large part responsible for the tremendous program the state faces today, according to Johnson.

Most of the hard surface highways were simply the result of topping the winding roads that had grown over the early trails. Now they present dangerous curves and hills that are too narrow and winding for current automobiles.

In 1940 a survey launched the state on a job to eliminate some of the more dangerous curves and grades. That led to the realization that huge rights of way had to be purchased and the highways in large part relocated. That is what Maryland is doing now.

Up To Legislature

Half of the present $200,000,000 improvement fund is the result of bonds issued by the state, the remainder represents revenue paid by the motoring public in many forms of taxes.

Just how much is being put into the improvements can be seen in McCain's statement that the spending since 1947 equals the entire investment Maryland had in its highways prior to that time.

Future plans that require the additional $400,000,000 to $600,000,000 will be for the Maryland Legislature to put into effect. That is where the money is alloted.

Besides the two prize projects, G. Bates Chaires, District No. 6 engineer or Western Maryland District pointed to such jobs as the construction of 3.6 miles of U. S. Route 219 from Thayersville south toward Oakland as an example of where the Western Maryland current allotments are going.

That project, commission officials say, will eventually lead to a completely remodeled highway from Route 40 into Garrett County's recreation areas, which the state is

Firemen's Training School Endorsed By Association

A proposal to construct a firemen's training center at West Virginia University, Morgantown, was endorsed Thursday by the West Virginia State Firemen's Association as the group's three-day session got underway in Moorefield, W. Va.

Plans for the center were brought before the association by Ross Hanna, director of the West Virginia Fire School, during the afternoon business session.

At the morning session, Moorefield's Mayor P. W. Clarke welcomed the group and Capt. Milton Austin of Moorefield Episcopal Church conducted a memorial service.

Another speaker at the afternoon meeting was Charles F. Reininger, Charles Town, W. Va., a former president of the association, who said that the next state legislature will act on a bill to establish a state experimental laboratory for studying the best methods of fighting all types of fires.

Ralph J. Bean, president of the association, appointed a nominating committee including Grey Marsh, Weston; Warren Halbert, Hinton; J. E. Mosser and J. H. Simmons, Ridgeley; John Gallagher, Huntington, and L. A. Stanley, Vienna.

Officers will be elected today.

Approximately 140 guests, firemen and their wives attended a banquet Thursday night in the basement of Duffey Methodist Church at which Jennings Randolph, former congressman from West Virginia, was the principal speaker.

Randolph said the United States is losing democracy by default. The country is sliding into a dictatorship because the average voter refuses to go to the polls. Only 23.7 per cent of West Virginia voters cast ballots in the August 1 election, he pointed out.

The alarming rise in the number of persons adhering to communism also was mentioned by Randolph.

Patricia Fisher Takes Top Honors In 4-H Fair Contest

Patricia Fisher was first place winner in the Girls' 4-H Club canned goods judging contest Wednesday at the Cumberland Fair, according to Miss Thelma Allin, assistant county home demonstration agent.

Other winners were Jane Iliff, second; Helen Borror, third; Eleanor Smith, fourth, and Elizabeth Long, fifth.

Premiums for exhibits entered by the girls will be presented today from 10 a. m. to noon, Miss Allin said.

The exhibits are the results of 4-H Club work through the year and competition is open only to club members. They are divided into seven classes, baking, food preservation, clothing, home furnishing, flowers, vegetables and notebooks, Miss Allin pointed out.

Miss Allin said that entries were of a better quality this year than in former years. There were more exhibits of complete costumes and fewer of canned goods.

Oral Hygiene Director Says Fluoride Treatments Helpful

A suggestion that teeth be treated with sodium fluoride solution has been added to the usual list of dental hygiene rules given to school children, according to Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the Division of Oral Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health.

It has been demonstrated, he stated, that sodium fluoride treatments usually reduce future dental decay by 40 per cent.

This reduction, Dr. Leonard added, is possible only when a correct technique of application is followed. For this reason, parents are advised to take children to their family dentist for this service

"Some people mistakenly believe that they (sodium fluoride treatments) will prevent all future decay," Dr. Leonard said. "This false impression may result in failure to follow all other valuable mouth health practices.

"It should be emphasized that only a 40 per cent reduction in decay is promised by the use of the sodium fluoride solution. The teeth must still be safeguarded by proper foods, proper cleanliness and regular visits to the dentist."

Dr. Leonard advised that children be taken to the dentist for examination before the school year begins in order to prevent trouble during the winter.

Rains Drench Parts Of Area, Ignore Others

Debris Obstructs Mt. Savage Road

Thunder storms played Will-o-the-Wisp on the Cumberland area map last night, obstructing roads and flooding buildings in some sections and completely passing over others.

Most of the showers occurred in the western area at about 8:30 p. m., although some were reported as early as 4:15.

State Roads Commission workmen were out last night clearing about one-tenth of a mile of the Mt. Savage Road two miles east of town at Gaither's Quarry which seemed to have the worst affects from the 8:30 downpour.

SRC employes said rocks and dirt covered the road, obstructing traffic for a short time. However, workmen removed the worst of the boulders and put warning lights in the area shortly after the rain ended, making the road passable.

Late last night, three SRC workers were clearing the remaining debris.

Corriganville residents reported between eight and ten inches of water on the Ellerslie road during the 15 to 20-minute 8:30 rain. Traffic was halted temporarily there, too.

Six or eight inches of water ran into the Corriganville Fire Hall basement where the equipment is kept, but no damage was reported.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of LaVale Fire Department found their meeting interrupted for awhile at 8:30, when water ran into their meeting room in the fire hall.

At about 4:15 p. m., Cumberland Fair spectators were driven home by a 45-minute downpour. A nearby resident said the rain stopped about 200 yards south of Fairgo Tavern near the fairgrounds. The sun was even shining, he added.

A heavy rain hit Mt. Savage at about 5:30 p. m., but no floods were reported in that area.

A baseball game was rained out in Wellersburg, Pa., during the first inning at about 6 p. m. However, games in LaVale and Triple Lakes went off on schedule.

There were only slight traces of rain in downtown Cumberland, Constitution Park or Ridgeley, and no rain reported east of the city.

No Fatal Accidents In County In July

Although Allegany County had no fatal accidents during July, it witnessed 21 accidents involving personal injury, according to the Maryland State Police Statistical Bureau.

Five accidents, all during the day, caused property damages, and one night accident was recorded causing injuries to pedestrians.

The Bureau also relates that Allegany County had 191 arrests, 231 warnings, 186 convictions, and only 13 dismissals.

Cumberland came up with a record of no fatal accidents, none resulting in personal injury, 2 daylight accidents causing property damage, and no pedestrians killed or injured. There were 9 arrests and 10 convictions in the city during the month.

Garrett County, like Allegany, had no fatal accidents, but had 15 resulting in personal injury, and 4 daylight and 2 night mishaps causing property damage. One daylight accident involved injuries to pedestrians.

Garrett had 96 arrests, 133 warnings, and 98 convictions as a result of violations, with only two dismissals.

The Weather

Yesterday was a rather confusing day. From the surprise of an 88-degree maximum temperature, half of Cumberland turned to the not quite as pleasant surprise of a thunder storm. The other half saw no rain and contented themselves with being a little too warm. The 62-degree Constitution Park and 66-degree downtown minimums were reasonably normal, but that was before daybreak. The late night reading was 71 degrees. Today should be cloudy and humid and there is a possibility of scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Offer To Buy Lots Rejected

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday refused the offer of John E. Powers, Cumberland, to purchase 13 lots owned by the county on Holland Street.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, explained that the lots were part of county farm land which was sub-divided under terms of a bill passed by the Legislature for sale to veterans of World Wars I and II.

Former soldiers were to be allowed to purchase the lots on the basis of "first come, first served."

But after two months, all unsold lots were to be offered at public sale, with the provision that only one lot be sold to any one person.

Four Are Hurt As Car Skids On Wet Highway

Driver Of Ohio Car Seriously Injured

An Ohio-licensed automobile skidded across rain-soaked Route 40 four miles west of Grantsville yesterday and crashed sideways against another car, injuring four persons, one seriously.

At Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where the victims were admitted, attaches listed them as Ernest M. Farr, Jr., 30, seriously injured, his wife, Helen, 27, both of Akron, Ohio; George D. Edwards, 52, and his wife, Iva, 49, both of Grantsville.

Police said Farr was removed from his car in an unconscious condition after he swerved back and forth across the highway and finally crashed against Edwards' machine.

Hospital attaches said the other three victims were painfully injured but listed their condition as good. All suffered lacerations and bruises.

State Trooper Glen Folk said Farr was headed east on the highway and apparently topped a rise in the hill just after it began raining "making the road very slippery." A rain storm followed later.

Police quoted Edwards as saying he saw the car swerving from side to side on the road. Edwards said he slowed his car to between a 15 to 20 mile an hour speed.

Edwards was descending a small grade, police said, and as his car reached the bottom, the Farr car turned sideways and crashed against the front of his vehicle.

Police said an unidentified nurse traveling in a car bearing Pennsylvania license stopped and gave first aid to all four of the injured persons and then accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Farr to the hospital in an ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards were taken to the hospital by unidentified motorists. All four persons had to be removed from the twisted wreckage of the two automobiles, police said.

Trooper Folk listed damage to the two cars at between $1,500 and $2,000. The Farr car was the worst damaged, he said.

Investigation of the accident will be continued. Farr remained unconscious last night and could not be questioned, police said.

Some preliminary digging has been done. The structure will be built with volunteer labor. Taylor estimated the cost at about $600.

The committee will hold a festival Tuesday and Wednesday at 7 p. m., Taylor said. Proceeds will go toward the addition and playground equipment.

There will be refreshments, contests, entertainment and games. A square dance will be held both nights from 8:30 to 10:30.

State Roads officials stopped briefly yesterday at Keyser Ridge, Garrett County, to inspect a major road improvement on U. S. Route 40, one of 15 projects either completed or under construction in Allegany and Garrett County under a $200,000,000 improvement program. Thomas L. Linthicum, construction engineer (second from left), points to the beginning of the 3.5 miles of relocation work as other members look on. The road to the rear of the group is a continuation of the project and can be seen merging with a concrete strip at the Pennsylvania State Line. Potomac Council Camporee To Be Held Sept. 16-17

Up To 500 Scouts Slated To Attend

Boy Scout troops of this area will get a chance to display their camping skills at the annual Camporee planned next month.

Willis V. Smith, Scout executive, said the overnight event will open at Camp Potomac, near Oldtown, Saturday, September 16, at 2 p. m. and close the following day at 2 p. m.

Up to 500 scouts from troops in Potomac Council are expected to attend the annual event.

The Camporee will be chiefly a demonstration of camping skills by troops and patrols, which will be required to furnish all equipment used during the overnight stay.

Only firewood and water will be available at camp. Food will be prepared by members of the units.

A "model camp" will be set up by a group of experienced Scouters and may be used as a guide by patrols in erecting camps.

Scouters will rate all patrols as excellent, good and fair and ribbon awards will be made.

Smith said a combined campfire will be held Saturday night with all troops and patrols invited to present a campfire stunt or skit.

The chief value of the Camporee, he added, is to allow Scouts to learn by seeing how other units perform their camping tasks.

Earl S. Black, field executive, will be in general charge of the camp. All troops will be under the charge of their scoutmasters and all activities, except the campfire, will be at the troop and patrol level.

Red Cross Will Aid In Contacts With Servicemen

Health And Welfare Reports To Be Made

The Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross yesterday urged families of servicemen in the Korean War zone to keep in touch with officials of the Cumberland office.

Mrs. W. Lee Witherup, executive secretary, said delays will be avoided in contacting families if needed information is on file at the chapter office.

She suggested that the chapter be informed of the serviceman's complete name, rank and serial number and any other pertinent information, together with the name, addres and telephone number of the serviceman's family.

If such details are available here, Mrs. Witherup said, the Red Cross can expedite information to the family or inquires concerning the men in the fighting zone.

The Red Cross, she added, will be glad to provide health and welfare reports to members of the immediate family if no word has been received by the next of kin for three months.

Mrs. Witherup said there has been a great deal of unavoidable delay in letters received from servicemen because of the rapid movement of troops.

She said the Red Cross is encouraging families of servicemen in the war zone to write by air mail to the last known address and not to expect a speedy reply.

Men in the combat zone, the Red Cross said, often do not have time to write letters regularly. Personal contacts by Red Cross field directors is also difficult in the war zone.

The Red Cross this week provided a progress report on the condition of Pfc. Virgil White, son of Mrs Zelda White, 13 Laing Avenue.

The field director reported his injuries as serious but said physicians advised the outcome was hopeful.

Mrs. Witherup said the Red Cross field directors have been making daily calls on injured servicemen to supplement regular reports made by the Armed Services.

Maryland Roads Show Results Of "Renaissance"

Western Area Has 15 Improvements

By JOHN P. MOODY
News Staff Writer

Maryland's highways, once the model of America's hard surface roads but in a state of disintegation since the mid-1920's, are bidding for motorists' praise again under a $200,000,000 building program.

The "Renaissance" of the Free State's traffic arteries got underway in 1947 and yesterday was able to present 15 improvements in Allegany and Garrett Counties for scrutiny of Maryland newsmen and women.

Many, in fact most, of the projects include huge relocation jobs that straightened out the highways as well as smoothing and widening them.

Even with these and numerous other projects either under construction or completed, State Roads Commission officials admit they lag behind demands of the 1950 automobile and its high speeds.

They are far removed, though, from the narrow winding roads that were built for vehicles with top speeds of 25 miles an hour and contained in use right through the 1940 decade.

Goal Over $400,000,000

Russell H. McCain, Republican member of the State Roads Commission, who accompanied the press tour over the 100-odd mile trip, said the ultimate goal based on present costs will cost the state between $400,000,000 and $600,000,000 more.

Two top prizes of the program to revamp Maryland traffic lanes in the western section of the state are the 4.6 miles of relocated and widened U. S. Route 40 between Allegany Grove and Frostburg, and the 3.5 miles of new highway at Keyser's Ridge in Garrett County.

Both projects, like many others, include three-lane traffic on all hill ascents with the third lane designed for slow moving vehicles. The Keyser Ridge job is pust now being completed.

Between visits to the 15 jobs aimed at making the State's highways "among the best," Clinton Johnson, public relations director for the commission, gave the press a briefing on highway history in Maryland.

According to Johnson, the State Roads Commission was born in 1908 and not long afterward Maryland had hard surface roads connecting the country seats from the Eastern Shore to Western Maryland's mountain region.

The turn-of-the-century arteries served as models for many other states caught in the race to replace its horse and buggy roads with thoroughfares for the new gasoline vehicle.

But Maryland's fast accomplishments and lack of foresight on the part of the builders are in large part responsible for the tremendous program the state faces today, according to Johnson.

Most of the hard surface highways were simply the result of topping the winding roads that had grown over the early trails. Now they present dangerous curves and hills that are too narrow and winding for current automobiles.

In 1940 a survey launched the state on a job to eliminate some of the more dangerous curves and grades. That led to the realization that huge rights of way had to be purchased and the highways in large part relocated. That is what Maryland is doing now.

Up To Legislature

Half of the present $200,000,000 improvement fund is the result of bonds issued by the state, the remainder represents revenue paid by the motoring public in many forms of taxes.

Just how much is being put into the improvements can be seen in McCain's statement that the spending since 1947 equals the entire investment Maryland had in its highways prior to that time.

Future plans that require the additional $400,000,000 to $600,000,000 will be for the Maryland Legislature to put into effect. That is where the money is alloted.

Besides the two prize projects, G. Bates Chaires, District No. 6 engineer or Western Maryland District pointed to such jobs as the construction of 3.6 miles of U. S. Route 219 from Thayersville south toward Oakland as an example of where the Western Maryland current allotments are going.

That project, commission officials say, will eventually lead to a completely remodeled highway from Route 40 into Garrett County's recreation areas, which the state is

Patricia Fisher Takes Top Honors In 4-H Fair Contest

Patricia Fisher was first place winner in the Girls' 4-H Club canned goods judging contest Wednesday at the Cumberland Fair, according to Miss Thelma Allin, assistant county home demonstration agent.

Other winners were Jane Iliff, second; Helen Borror, third; Eleanor Smith, fourth, and Elizabeth Long, fifth.

Premiums for exhibits entered by the girls will be presented today from 10 a. m. to noon, Miss Allin said.

The exhibits are the results of 4-H Club work through the year and competition is open only to club members. They are divided into seven classes, baking, food preservation, clothing, home furnishing, flowers, vegetables and notebooks, Miss Allin pointed out.

Miss Allin said that entries were of a better quality this year than in former years. There were more exhibits of complete costumes and fewer of canned goods.

Firemen's Training School Endorsed By Association

A proposal to construct a firemen's training center at West Virginia University, Morgantown, was endorsed Thursday by the West Virginia State Firemen's Association as the group's three-day session got underway in Moorefield, W. Va.

Plans for the center were brought before the association by Ross Hanna, director of the West Virginia Fire School, during the afternoon business session.

At the morning session, Moorefield's Mayor P. W. Clarke welcomed the group and Capt. Milton Austin of Moorefield Episcopal Church conducted a memorial service.

Another speaker at the afternoon meeting was Charles F. Reininger, Charles Town, W. Va., a former president of the association, who said that the next state legislature will act on a bill to establish a state experimental laboratory for studying the best methods of fighting all types of fires.

Ralph J. Bean, president of the association, appointed a nominating committee including Grey Marsh, Weston; Warren Halbert, Hinton; J. E. Mosser and J. H. Simmons, Ridgeley; John Gallagher, Huntington, and L. A. Stanley, Vienna.

Officers will be elected today.

Approximately 140 guests, firemen and their wives attended a banquet Thursday night in the basement of Duffey Methodist Church at which Jennings Randolph, former congressman from West Virginia, was the principal speaker.

Randolph said the United States is losing democracy by default. The country is sliding into a dictatorship because the average voter refuses to go to the polls. Only 23.7 per cent of West Virginia voters cast ballots in the August 1 election, he pointed out.

The alarming rise in the number of persons adhering to communism also was mentioned by Randolph.

Oral Hygiene Director Says Fluoride Treatments Helpful

A suggestion that teeth be treated with sodium fluoride solution has been added to the usual list of dental hygiene rules given to school children, according to Dr. Richard C. Leonard, chief of the Division of Oral Hygiene of the Maryland State Department of Health.

It has been demonstrated, he stated, that sodium fluoride treatments usually reduce future dental decay by 40 per cent.

This reduction, Dr. Leonard added, is possible only when a correct technique of application is followed. For this reason, parents are advised to take children to their family dentist for this service

"Some people mistakenly believe that they (sodium fluoride treatments) will prevent all future decay," Dr. Leonard said. "This false impression may result in failure to follow all other valuable mouth health practices.

"It should be emphasized that only a 40 per cent reduction in decay is promised by the use of the sodium fluoride solution. The teeth must still be safeguarded by proper foods, proper cleanliness and regular visits to the dentist."

Dr. Leonard advised that children be taken to the dentist for examination before the school year begins in order to prevent trouble during the winter.
